PREFACE.

THE compiler has at length the satisfaction of laying before his numerous cousins the results of his genealogical investigations. Though expanded far beyond his expectations, he has to regret the omission of much biographical matter and the incompleteness of the genealogical statistics. The data published, however, embrace all that has been received; though the utmost diligence has been exerted to secure full returns. Those who find their genealogies incomplete will understand the cause of it. Every living head of a family whose address is here given has been applied to for information. The correspondence has extended to multitudes of single persons. All who did not respond at once, have been addressed by letter or circular from two to four times. The total number of genealogical letters written since Sept. 14, 1867, is 771. The total number of circulars sent out is 2015.

A few have interested themselves actively and generously; and multitudes have responded promptly. The great mass of details has been culled from 512 letters. The compiler, however, has consulted many original records, including 48 volumes of land records and several volumes of church and town records of old Windsor; and 36 volumes of land records at Simsbury. The public records of Kensington, Torrington, Suffield and Topsham, (Me.) have also been searched at his request. He has had access to Savage's Genealogical Dictionary of New England, Stiles' History of Ancient Windsor, Andrews' History of New Britain, the various published colonial documents of New England and New York, and numerous collateral works supplied by the library of the University of Michigan. The library of the Connecticut Historical Society, at Hartford, has afforded the opportunity to consult many published genealogies; and others have been had from private hands. It is not likely that many important facts have been overlooked.

The only other genealogical accounts of the family, known to the writer, are the condensed and undigested, but invaluable, statements of Stiles and Savage; and a limited amount of information collected in 1819 by Rev. James M. Winchell, A. M., and incorporated in a biography of Hon. Philo M. Winchell, written by Abraham Winchell, A. M., about 1834. The present attempt will serve, at least, as a nucleus around which may be gathered additional facts.

This has been a labor of love—more a labor than an amusement. The writer's instincts have drawn him into it. When six years of age he used to amuse himself by writing on his slate the names of all his relatives. He has now a genealogical tree, with brief biographies appended, which he drew up in 1843. Since that time his acquaintance with the family has been extending. In 1857 he procured a record book and commenced the systematic registration of facts according to a plan to which he has adhered. In July, 1867, the opportunity offering itself, he entered upon an examination of original documents at Windsor and was so much gratified by his discoveries that he determined to complete the research and publish the results.

The writer proposes to continue his labors. He will feel obliged, therefore, for any suggestions or additional information. Every person interested is requested to keep the writer posted in the progress of events connected with his own history and that of his relatives. About sixty photographs have been received, and others are solicited.

The writer has experienced peculiar pleasure in making the acquaintance of so many hundreds of persons who claim a common ancestry with himself. Within the third and fourth degrees of cousinship he has discovered new friends, with whom has been opened interesting correspondence, and in whom has been developed an unexpected interest. He hopes these friendships may be perpetuated; that the family sentiment may be consolidated, and that every one will feel some degree of responsibility in earning credit for the good old Saxon name bequeathed to us by our honest pilgrim ancestors.

INTRODUCTION.

I.—HISTORY OF THE NAME.

THE family name of Winchell is widely disseminated in America, Wales, England, and Germany. It occurs under a great variety of forms. (1) Winchell is the common orthography in America, England and Germany, and I believe also in Wales. (2) Winchel is the orthography usually met with in the early New England records, and is retained by the "Indiana" and "Ulster" sub-branches of the "Windsor Branch" of the Family. (3) Winshall, (4) Winchil and (5) Winchill are also sometimes found in the old records. The last mentioned occurs in the Records of Dorchester Town, Massachusetts, and is perpetuated by a sub-branch of the Family, residing chiefly in Wisconsin and Minnesota. I find the name of the same person spelled (6) Wynchell in the records of the General Court of Connecticut. (7) Winchtel is apparently an Irish form of the name. (8) Wenchell occurs in the city of Baltimore. Amongst the Germans the name frequently assumes the form of (9) Wünschel and (10) Wünstel, as I have observed both in America and Prussia. (11) Winstel is another German form. (12) Wincoll, (13) Wincol, (14) Wincall, (15) Winkall, and even (16) Winkle are early New England names of frequent occurrence, which are undoubtedly all equivalents of Wincoll—a name which genealogists believe to be only an old form of Winchell. The name is sometimes augmented into (17) Winchelsey, (18) Winchelsea, (19) Winchilsea, (20) Winchelcomb, and the German (21) Winchelback.* It is sometimes shortened into (22) Winch, (23) Winche, (24) Wynch, (25) Wünsch, (26) Win, (27) Winn, (28) Winne,

* In the German language Wünschelhut is "a magic cap" and Wünschelruthe "a magic wand," from the root wünschen, "to wish."

(29) Wynne; and altered, perhaps, into (30) Witchtel, (31) Wenzel, (32) Winchecombe, (33) Wynchcombe; and not impossibly the forms Winchester, Winchendon, and very probably the German forms Winkel, Winkle, Winklemann and their allies, as well as the Dutch Van Winkle have been derived from a primitive form of the name, or at least from a common etymological stock.

The name Winchell is, without doubt, of early Saxon origin. In the present state of my information, however, I am unable to decide positively between two Saxon etymologies.

In Craik's Outlines of the History of the English Language, London, 1859, p. 69, I find the following extract from the Ormulum, a sort of poem written by Ormin, as is supposed, in the latter part of the twelfth century.

"Godd *seggde thuss till Abraham; Tacc Ysaac thin wenchell
"And snith it als itt wære an shep, And legg it uppon alterr
"And brenn itt all till asskess thær, And offre itt me to lake," etc.

Thus translated:

God said thus to Abraham:—Take Isaac thine little child
And slay it as it were a sheep, and lay it upon the altar,
And burn it all to ashes there, and offer it me for gift.

The word wenchell in this passage is understood to signify "a little child." In the Anglo-Saxon, wencle signifies "a maid," "a daughter;" winclo, "children," "offspring." These words come from the Saxon wincian,† "to wink at;" so that wencle is "one that is winked at, or may be had by a nod or wink." The Saxon wincian is, in High German of the eleventh century, winken and winchen. The Saxon substantive wincle or wencle became softened, under Norman influence, to winchell or wenchell—of which wench is an abbreviation. Wench, in old English, still retained the signification of "a young woman," or sometimes, "a young person of either sex;" and the word wenchell used by Ormin, may be regarded as a diminutive of this. Wenchell is so nearly Winchell that had we no other apparent etymology, I should be induced to regard this as the correct one. I refer to it, however, only for the gratification of the curious.

It seems more probable that our family name comes from another root. Wincel in Saxon signifies "an angle"; and we are informed by etymologists that the name Winchelsea is from Winceles-ea, that is wincel "an angle" and ea "running water—in allusion, perhaps, to an angle in the river Rother, at the mouth of which the town of Winchelsea was situated—this being an ancient town of much importance in the time of the Romans, and still preserving Saxon ruins.

* It is said to have been a personal idiosyncrasy of this author to double the consonants, as illustrated in this extract.

It is possible that the family name was derived from this name of an ancient town. The transition would be easy and not extraordinary. During the prevalence of Norman influence in Great Britain, such names as John de Baliol, Leo de Welles and Edward de Stafford became extremely common. By degrees the French particle was dropped. For instance, John de Baliol of 1278, had a brother who, in 1300, was called Alexander Baliol. Leo de Welles of 1421, had a son who, in 1487, was called John Welles, and Edward de Stafford, of 1483, had a son who is registered as Henry Stafford, in 1547. During the reign of Edward I. was a prominent ecclesiastic by the name of Robert de Winchelsey. This same ecclesiastic is now frequently mentioned as simple Robert Winchelsey—a surnname which I consider only a corruption of the older Winchelsea. Our family name may thus have been derived from the old Saxon name of a city. It seems more probable, however, that it had a distinct, but parallel descent from the same root as the name of the city. In either case our family patronymic signifies simply "an angle."

The sound of c in the languages of the Gothic family, was originally like k, as in the words cyng, cynig, "a king"—pronounced kyng, kynig; circ, circe, "a church"—pronounced kirk, kirke; wincel, "an angle"—pronounced winkel. The soft sound of c, so far as it exists in the Saxon or other languages of this stock, was introduced with the literature and tastes of southern Europe. The Anglo-Saxon c began to take the sound of soft ch, as in Italian, etc., on the introduction of Christianity by Augustin, an ecclesiastic from Rome, near the close of the sixth century; but it was more especially the influence of the Norman conquest, in 1067, which introduced into the Anglo-Saxon the frequently occurring soft sounds of c and ch before the vowels e, i and y. Thus cild, "a child," which had been pronounced kild, became changed to child; circ and circe, became changed to chirch; wincel (winkel) was changed to winchel, and Wincelesea to Winchelsea. In those cases where c was allowed to retain its original hard sound before e, i and y, it was replaced by k to avoid ambiguity; so that cyng became kyng, and subsequently king. So likewise the Saxon forms cynig and cyning became in German könig, in Dutch, koning; in Swedish, konung, and in Danish, konge.

The Gothic dialects of the north of the continent felt less than the English, the softening influence of southern example; and hence they retain the hard sound of c—substituting k for that letter—in many words where the Anglo-Saxon adopted the soft sound of c, and transmitted it to the English. This soft sound was sometimes s, but more frequently, a soft ch. Thus while the Saxon circe (kirke) became the English church, the continental languages perpetuated the hard sound in the German kirche, Dutch kerk, Danish kirke, Swedish kyrckia. Even the Scot, further removed from these influences, retains the original pronunciation in kirk. Thus, also, while the Saxon Wincel (Winkel) became the English Winchel, it became the German Winkel, and the Dutch Winkle—the same in sound, but with a less equivocal orthography. These German surnames, therefore, while derived from the same root, have had, apparently, an independent history. We are permitted, however, to suppose the name, as a common paternal stock, was in existence in the north of Europe before the Saxon invasion of England; and was borne thither by some of the companions of the Jutish princes Hengist and Horsa in the year 449. In this case the German names Winkel and Winkle are to be regarded as lineal descendents of the old Gothic form, while Winchel is the same reappearing in England under a semi-gallic guise.

As to the name Winchel or Winchell among the Germans in the Palatinate and in Saxony, I cannot think it indigenous. It was probably imported into Germany through some military movement, or was introduced during the persecutions under queen Elizabeth, when so many English families are known to have sought refuge on the continent.

The English and American Wincoll, under its various forms, may be regarded as merely a corrupted orthography of the Saxon Wincel, (or the English Winchell, if the ch retained its hard sound.) The various spellings indicate that it had the same pronunciation. We find it as Wincol, Wincall and Winkle. In three instances we find it replaced by Winchel. This circumstance seems to indicate that the latter name was at least sometimes, pronounced Winkel at the date of the first settlement of New England. It is not improbable that the populace retained the old Saxon pronunciation of the name long after the educated had adopted the softened spelling and pronunciation. The ignorant may have retained the Saxon sound even after adopting the Anglo-Norman orthography. Be this as it may, there are facts, which I shall hereafter cite, proving, with little doubt, that the names Winchel and Wincol were sometimes employed interchangeably in the early history of New England.

II.—HISTORY OF THE FAMILY.

THE earliest mention which I have discovered of the word Winchell as a proper appellation, is Feb. 13th, 1293, when Robert Winchelsey was elected archbishop of Canterbury. Winchelsey acceded to this dignity Sept. 2d, 1294, and died May 11th, 1313. He was tenth in succession, from Thomas a Becket. To him was addressed the celebrated Bull of Pope Boniface VIII., date June 27th, 1299, in which the Pontiff asserted his own claim to the throne of Scotland with which Edward I. was then at war, and over which he asserted royal authority. Winchelsey, according to Lingard, did not receive the Bull until twelve months had elapsed, when he forthwith proceeded with it, through great difficulties, to Edward. This monarch decided to convene a parliament for the purpose of consultation in reference to the Pope's claims. Writs were accordingly issued Sept. 26th, 1300, and the Barons assembled at Lincoln, and agreed upon their celebrated "Letter" as the response of the commonwealth of England to the pretensions of the Pope.

The town of Winchelsea, now an insignificant and dilapidated village in the south of England, was a place of importance in the Roman period. It was then located at the mouth of the Rother, a small river separating the counties of Kent and Sussex. Between 1280 and 1287 the town was destroyed by the encroachments of the sea; whereupon the inhabitants removed to New Winchelsea, two miles southwest on the river Breed. Edward I. surrounded the new town with walls; and Henry VIII. erected a castle in the vicinity, the ruins of which are still visible. Winchelsea, Rye, Romney, Sandwich and Dover were the "Cinque Ports" which, as being nearest to France, the rival and enemy of England, were regarded as the "Keys of the Kingdom," and were accordingly put under a "Lord Warden." By a singular fatality, the new harbor was ruined, in the 16th century, by the recession of the sea, leaving the place an inland town, partly surrounded by a salt marsh. The borough, nevertheless, continued to enjoy the privilege of sending two members to parliament till the passage of the Reform Act in 1832, when it was included in the borough of Rye. The antiquity of the place and the name is attested by the fact that the court-house and the jail underneath it, are of Saxon architecture.

The earldom of Winchelsea was founded July 12th, 1628. Elizabeth, first Viscountess Maidstone, widow of Sir Moyle Finch, Bart., being created Countess of Winchelsea with remainder to her issue. She died in 1633, when Sir Thomas Finch, 2d Baronet, her son and heir, acceded to the earldom. He died in 1699. His successors have been: IId Earl, Heneage Finch, who died in 1689; IIId, Charles, who died 1712; IVth, Heneage, who died 1726; Vth, John, who died 1729; VIth, Daniel, who died 1730; VIIth, Daniel, who died 1769; VIIIth, George. The present Earl was born in 1815; is a member of the Carlton Club, and resides at Eastwell Park, Kent county.

Charles, the third earl, was one of the "Lords of Trade" in the colonial history of New York, and sustained active and important relations with the colony. Anne, wife of the fourth earl, was a poetess of considerable renown, celebrated for the smoothness of her versification. Her poems were collected and published in 1713, and she died in 1720.

The earls of Winchelsea do not, of course, necessarily sustain any relation of consanguinity to persons bearing the name of Winchell, or Winchelsey. Neither is there any positive evidence that such relation subsists between the representatives of the two last mentioned names. I have found a tradition in existence, however, to the effect that the family name of Winchell was formerly Winchelsey or Winchelsea, and that the final syllable was dropped, leaving the name Winchel. This is the orthography current on the settlement of America; though it is probable there were also extant many corruptions of the name, as already intimated.

Besides the facts already cited, I am at present unacquainted with any mention of the name until the period of immigration to New England. I am informed by Welshmen that the name is of common occurrence in Glamorganshire in South Wales; but, though I have written for information, according to directions, I get no reply.

The family of Winchell exists in London; and it is extremely probable that it has representatives in other parts of England.

The Coat of Arms of the family of Winchell is thus described: "Ar. three eagles' wings sa." which means "Argent three eagles' wings sable." "Argent" in armorial language signifies "white" and "sable" signifies "black."

The Coat of Arms of the family of Winchelsey is described thus: "Ar. on a fesse of the same barrulet gu. in chief three cinquefoils vert."

The following is the Coat of Arms of the town of Winchelsea: "Per pale gu. and az. three demi lions pass. guard or. conjoined in pale, and as many hulks of ships ar."

The following is the Coat of Arms of the Earl of Winchelsea:— "Quarterly, first and fourth, az. a chev. betw. three garbs, or; second and third ar. a chev. betw. three griffins pass wings endorsed, sa. Crest,—A pegasus courant ar. winged, maned, and hoofed or. ducally gorged of the last. Supporters.—Dexter, a pegasus ar. wings, mane and hoofs or. ducally gorged of the last; sinister a griffin, wings endorsed, sa. ducally gorged or. Mottoes.—NIL CONSCIRE SIBI and VIRTUS TUTISSIMA CASSIS." *

It is certain that most of the representatives of the family of Winchell in America are descended from an English speaking ancestry. According to traditions extant in some sub-branches of the family, our ancestors were of Welsh nativity; according to others, they were English. The evidence inclines me to the latter opinion.

*These descriptions are from Burke's "General Armory" where the reader can consult a vocabulary of the armorial jargon.

Robert Winchell, the ancestor of probably nine tenths of those bearing the name in America, is known to have been at Dorchester, Massachusetts, in 1635, and at Windsor, Connecticut, in 1638.

A Robert Wincoll was made freeman by the General Court of the colony of Massachusetts Bay on the 6th of May, 1635. There can be little doubt that this Robert was the same as elsewhere styled Robert Winchel. I find these names employed interchangeably. A woman named Elizabeth Winchell, aged 52, came from London, in the Rebecca, in 1635, with John Wincoll, aged 13, who is reputed to have been the son of Thomas Wincoll, who came over in 1642 and brought his wife Beatrice with him. Savage thinks Elizabeth's name was probably Wincoll, and that she was aunt (possibly mother) of the boy who came with her. I find, however, a record of the same events in another place, in which both names are Winchell, as follows: "Theis underwritten names are to be transported to N. E. embarqued in the Rebecca p'rd.

"Elizabeth Winchell, - - 52	Wm. Swayne, aged - - 16
"Jo. Winchell, - - - - 13	ffrancis Swayne, - - 14"

This is taken from a book in the Rolls Office, Chancery Lane, London, on the cover of which is this inscription: "A Booke of Entrie for Paſsengers by ye Comiſsion and Souldiers according to ye Statutie passing beyond the seas, begun at Christmas, 1631, and ending at Christmas, 1632." (New Eng. Hist. & Gen. Regist., Vol. XIV. p. 307.)

It is also the opinion of Dr. Stiles, whom I consulted on the subject, that the name Wincoll under its various forms had a common origin with Winchell in its various forms. Such confounding of two orthographies which we should now pronounce so differently, appears more probable if my previous suggestion is recalled that the ch in Winchell was sometimes pronounced like k even in modern times; and superseded a c always hard, in times more remote.

Of persons bearing the same Wincoll, I know that the following were in Massachusetts at an early date. 1. Thomas, who was at Watertown in 1642 and died "well advanced in years" in 1657; 2. Elizabeth, (referred to above) who was 52 when she came over in 1635; 3. John, son of Thomas, in 1635; 4. Thomas at Salem, 1631; 5. Humphrey at Cambridge, 1634; 6. John at Salem, 1631; 7. Robert of Massachusetts, in 1635 (same as Robert Winchel.)

I need not cite here the considerations which have guided me in arriving at a conjecture in reference to the relationship existing among these Wincolls. I will only state that, so far as I can judge, an immigration of two heads of families took place:

I.—John, who was at Salem in 1631. His wife Elizabeth came over from London in the Rebecca, in April, 1635. She was born in 1583. Their sons were

1. THOMAS, who came over with his father and remained at Salem.
2. JOHN, born 1622, who came over with his mother in 1635.

II.—Thomas, of Watertown, who is supposed to have come after his son John had brought his wife Beatrice, who died 1 June, 1655. He was a proprietor in 1642, and was allowed to keep an inn in 1649. He died 10 June, 1657, "well advanced in years." Persons conjectured to be sons of this Thomas, were,

1. HUMPHREY, of Cambridge in 1634. Savage says "he was perhaps, from little Waldingfield, county Suffolk.

2. JOHN, of Watertown, who was a proprietor in 1637, and a freeman in 1646. He removed soon after to Kittery, where, with many others, he submitted in 1652 and 1653 to the jurisdiction of Mass. He was chosen deputy from Kittrey in 1653, 4 and 5. In the second year he is styled "lieutenant"; but in the third year he was chosen "Sergeant John Wincoll," to act as commissioner in the settlement of disputes about land titles. In 1658 he was one of the deputies from "Water Toune." In May of the same year, in a suit against Lewis Jones, he obtained a verdict of three pounds. In 1659 he appears with John Sherman in a petition for the division of an estate. In 1665 he was of loyalty sufficient to be made a justice by the royal commissioners of Newiggewannacke (or Newichawannock) that included, perhaps, both sides of the river, though his residence was in Berwick. In 1671 Capt. John Wincoll, of Douer, was appointed (with John Hull) to lay out a tract of 1280 acres of land. In 1672 he reported the land laid out, and in Oct. he, with "Esquire Dauis, of Douer," was appointed to lay out ground for the village of Portsmouth. In 1673, Capt. John Wincoll (with others) constituted a court to try a suit, on which he reported in 1674. He was again chosen representative for Kettry in 1675, 7 and 8; and from 1676 to 1685 "was in the commission under either or both Stoughton and Danforth, as president; and served in the council as clerk and registrar—yet seeming most to rejoice in the style of 'captain.' In 1689 Capt. Wincoll led a company of men from Piscataqua against hostile Indians at Winnopeseag pond, (Mather's Magnalia II. 390.) He had a wife, Elizabeth, and died by a fall from a horse 22 Oct., 1694.*

3. ROBERT, of Massachusetts (undoubtedly Robert Winchel of Dorchester.) He received a "house lot" 4 Jan., 1635; and was admitted a freeman, 6 May, 1635; and hence, probably arrived in 1634 or earlier.

If I am right in my conjecture that Robert, John and Humphrey were brothers, we discover here the basis of the tradition about descent from "three brothers." Robert we shall trace into Connecticut. Of John many facts are preserved; and the descendents of John Wincoll have formed a considerable family, whose genealogy, however, I have not attempted to trace. But what became of Humphrey? In the New Hampshire sub-branch of our family is found a tradition that one of the "three brothers" settled in Rhode Island and became the founder of that sub-branch. I am not able, however, to verify this tradition. I find no mention of either Wincoll or Winchell in any of the following works: Rhode Island Colonial Records, 10 volumes; Arnold's History of R. I.,

*The foregoing facts are mostly from the Colonial Records of Mass. Bay Colony, and from Savage's Genealogical Dictionary of New England.

2 vols.; Peterson's "History of R. I." Moreover, Hon. John R. Bartlett, Secretary of State of R. I., in reply to my inquiries obligingly states, "A 'Census of Rhode Island,' taken in 1774, contains the names and ages of all the inhabitants of the colony in 1774. It is alphabetically arranged and easy to consult. I have examined the names beginning with W in each town, but but do not find a single inhabitant named Winchell—I have also examined the early land titles—i. e. deeds—from 1638 to about 1700, but do not find the name. I this morning met Mr. S. W. Church of Bristol, where you thought there had been some of the name. This gentleman has always lived there, and recollects none of the name during the last fifty years." From these facts it appears highly improbable that Humphrey Wincoll or any person by the name of Wincoll or Winchell settled in Rhode Island previous to 1700. Not unlikely Humphrey of Cambridge died without issue. The tradition, indeed, asserts that this was the case with one of the supposed brothers.

Dismissing the question of consanguinity between Robert (Wincoll) Winchell and the Wincolls, let us now direct our inquiries to Robert's origin and history. Robert was in Dorchester early in 1635. In a History of the First Baptist Church of Boston, from 1665 to 1618, by Rev. J. M. Winchell, Boston, 1819, it is stated that the Town Records, under date of Jan. 4th, 1635, contain this entry:—"16 acres are set off to Robert Winchill between Roxbury and Dorchester (at the bounds)." As Robert was in Dorchester so early in 1635, it is probable that he arrived, at latest, during the summer or autumn of 1634. It is not unlikely, however, that he came over with the colony who settled Dorchester, in 1630. This colony was collected together from the counties of Devon, Dorset and Somerset. It was organized by Rev. John White of Dorchester, county Dorset. They sailed from Plymouth (county Devon) in the Mary and John, 20 March, 1630, and landed in New England, 30 May, 1630.

I am in possession of no evidence of the Welsh nativity of the members of this colony. It will be noticed, however, that the county of Somerset is separated from Glamorganshire in South Wales—the present residence of numerous Winchells—by only the width of Bristol Channel, which is not over ten or twelve miles. It may also be added that Winchelsea, in Sussex; the seat of the Earl of Winchelsea, in Kent; Canterbury, the see of the old Archbishop of Winchelsey, in Kent; and Maidstone the seat of the Countess of Winchelsea, (1628), in Kent, are all in the extreme south of England, and locally associated with each other, and with the south of Wales. There is some reason for supposing that some community of history has exisited amongst persons of names so similar and so associated geographically. We seem to be, at least, authorized to presume that the Winchells of Wales and of England are descended from a common stock. As the primitive inhabitants of Wales are of Celtic origin, and as we have seen that the name Winchell is probably of Saxon or the older Gothic etymology,* it appears probable that the founder of the Welsh branch emigrated thither from England.

I am thus led to presume that Robert was an Englishman, of Anglo-Saxon descent. Even though he may not have immigrated with the colony who came over in the "Mary and John," the same presumption stands.†

In 1638, Robert is known to have been at Windsor, Connecticut. The precise date of his arrival here is also invoved in obscurity. His third child, Phebe, was baptized at Windsor, 29 March, 1638. As she was probably born not long previously, there are reasons for supposing that her mother was in Windsor before the opening of the winter of 1637–8. It is in fact probable that she was there considerably earlier. Windsor was founded by a colony from Dorchester—with accessions from Newtown—in Oct., 1635. We have no account of further arrivals from Dorchester, or from any source, until the advent of the company from Warwickshire, England, under Rev. Mr. Huit, in 1639. Robert, therefore, who received his "home lot" at Dorchester, 4 Jan., 1635, and was admitted freeman 6 May, 1635, set out, probably, 15 Oct., 1635, with the Dorchester people who had determined to transfer their fortunes to the fertile banks of the Connecticut river. At so early a period did the spirit of western emigration seize our puritan ancestors.

History has preserved the account of this exodus from Dorchester through the wilderness of New England.‡ Sending their household

* It will be remembered that the Saxons, if we trust the accounts, settled first in the south of England. Hengist established his capital at Canterbury, where he died in 488; Ælla, another Saxon king, holding Sussex and Surrey, to the west; while Kerdic and his son Kenric established the kingdom of the west Saxons in Hants, Dorset, Wilts, Berks and the Isle of Wight. It is more than possible—as before intimated—that our earliest English ancestors, went over with Hengist, the founder of the oldest kingdom of the Saxon Heptarchy, leaving in Jutland, relatives from whom are descended the Winkels of Germany.

† On this question I ought to make the following citations:—From a sketch of the later genealogy of the family of Winchell, prepared by 876 Abraham Winchell, more than twenty-five years ago, for 301 Philo M. Winchell, and now in possession of Col. John Winchell, I learn that "Jared Mills, a Baptist Clergyman of Canton, Ct., in a letter to Rev. James M. Winchell of Boston, [as early as 1819] says, 'As the family of Winchells were among the first settlers of Windsor, Ct., and as it is pretty well ascertained that the name is German—one individual of that name having come from Brunswick, Germany—[perhaps this was Justus. See III. "Branches and Sub-branches"]—the probability is that a few persons went over from Holland or Germany to England, with the good old Puritans,' etc., etc. Mr. Ruggles Winchell, however, of Brookville, Ind., in a letter to the same, in answer to inquiries, writes, 'that he has been informed by his grandfather [29 Nathanael, great grandson of 1 Robert] that two or three brothers by the name of Winchell came over from England to America, very soon after its settlement.'" This is probably reliable, but Robert Ruggles adds mistakenly, "and all of them became inhabitants of Windsor."

‡ History, however, has commonly asserted that the emigration was mainly from Newtown. This, as original documents prove, is erroneous; since of 100 persons who removed from Massachusetts Bay this year, to the Connecticut, 60 were Dorchester people who set out in October.

goods, provisions, and probably some of their families around by water, the colony proceeded overland through the primitive forest, driving their catttle before them. The journey consumed two weeks. Before they could cross the Connecticut, and before the arrival of the vessel containing their supplies, winter set in, and they were subjected to the direst hardships. A company of 70, male and female, who set out to meet their vessel, were fortunately relieved by a trading vessel which took them back to Dorchester. Those who remained at Windsor were compelled literally to subsist upon "acorns, malt and grains, with what food they could gain by hunting, and such as was given them by the Indians." On the first opening of spring the Dorchester party returned, bringing with them the larger part of the Dorchester church. (See Stiles' History of Ancient Windsor.)

III.—BRANCHES AND SUB-BRANCHES OF THE FAMILY.

IT is certain that the greater portion of the Winchells (not including the Wincolls) now living in America, are descended from Robert, who is known to have been at Dorchester in 1635 and at Windsor in 1638. The descendents of Robert constitute that I have designated the WINDSOR BRANCH. There are two other Branches in America, founded by independent immigration. Of these the GOSHEN BRANCH was founded by Munson, who, according to Munson Winchell, of Batavia, Ill., came from England with two brothers, and engaged in the war of the American Revolution; while, according to John Winchell, of Sangerfield, N. Y., he was one of seven brothers who served in the British army in the war before the Revolution. The GERMAN BRANCH, so called, embraces all who are known to have descended from German parentage. One of the sub-branches may be designated the Jockgrim Sub-Branch; another the Brunswick Sub-Branch. Isolated individuals of German descent are also known.

The Great WINDSOR BRANCH may be conveniently divided into several sub-branches, as shown below. The following table exhibits all the branches and sub-branches of the Family.

I. WINDSOR BRANCH. Founded by ROBERT at Dorchester, Mass., in 1634 or 5, and at Windsor, Conn., 1636–8.

1. Berlin Sub-branch. Founded by 31 Hezekiah, (born 1697) in Berlin, Conn. Great-grand-son of Robert.
2. New Hampshire Sub-branch. Name of Founder unknown, supposed to be 34 Samuel, (born 1690). Settled at or near Hartford, Conn., and probably removed to New Hampshire.
3. Ulster Sub-branch. Founded by 43 Stephen, (born 1698) on the manor of the "Great Nine Partners" in Dutchess county, N. Y. Descendents mostly in Ulster county.
4. Hampden Sub-branch. Founded by 44 Thomas, (born 1700) brother of Stephen. Descendents settled mostly in Hampden Co., Mass., or in that vicinity.
5. Maine Sub-branch. Founded by 51 Samuel, of the IVth generation, (born 1711). Settled at Topsham, Me.
6. Torrington Sub-branch. Founded by 56 Ebenezer, of the IVth generation, (born 1722). Settled at Torrington, Ct.
7. Washington Sub-branch. Founded by 129 Justus, of the Vth generation, (born 1755). Settled in Washington county, N. Y.
8. Dutchess Sub-branch. Founded by 135 James, of the Vth generation, (born 1741). Settled at North East, Dutchess county, N. Y.
9. Vermont Sub-branch. Founded by two brothers, 136 Nathaniel and 187 Dan, (born 1753). Brothers of James. Nathaniel settled at Rutland and Dan lived at Pomfret.
10. Onion River Sub-branch. Founded by 157 Jonathan, of the Vth generation, born 1736. Settled on the Onion River, Vt. Supposed son of 62 Daniel.
11. Egremont Sub-branch. Founded by two brothers, 166 Azariah and 167 Joseph, probably of the Vth generation. Supposed sons of 68 Azariah.
12. Indiana Sub-branch. Founded by 177 Robert Ruggles, of the VIth generation. Born 1750. Settled at Brookville, Franklin county, Ind.
13. Kensington Sub-branch. Founded by 180 Amasa, of the VIth generation. Born 1766. Lived at Kensington, Ct.
14. Philadelphia Sub-branch. Founded, as supposed, by 207 Ira, of the VIth generation. Born 1782. Settled at Bordentown, N. J. Descendents mostly in Philadelphia.
15. New York Sub-branch. Founded by 294 James, of the VIth generation. Born about 1796. Settled in New York city.
16. Herkimer Sub-branch. Founded by 417 Eli, apparently of the VIth generation. Born about 1769. Lived in St. Lawrence and Herkimer counties, N. Y. Supposed grandson of 63 David.

17. Victor Sub-branch. Founded by 869 Martin, apparently of the VIIth generation. Lived at Victor, Monroe county, N. Y. Supposed son of 298 Martin.

18. Iowa Sub-branch. Founded by Alvin, apparently of the VIIth generation. Born about 1798. Settled at Dubuque, Iowa. Son of 429 Eliakim of Granville, Mass., who is the supposed grandson of 102 Eliakim.

II. Goshen Branch. Founded by Munson before the Revolution. Came from England and settled at Goshen, Ct.

III. German Branch. Descendents of immigrants from Germany.

1. Brunswick Sub-branch. Founded by Justus, who was born at Brunswick, Germany, 1759. Settled at Hebron, Washington county, N. Y.

2. Jockgrim Sub-branch. Founded by the children of Georg Michæl, a resident of Jockgrim, Bavaria.

The affinities amongst the sub-branches of the Windsor Branch as they are demonstrated (or in some cases presumed) to exist, are shown in the following table. This table embraces the names of all males who reached maturity along the lines of the several Sub-branches until the dates of their founding, respectively. The names of the Sub-branches that have not yet been positively traced to connection are indicated by a query annexed. In most cases, however, a strong presumption exists that the connection indicated will prove to be the true one. The Roman numerals at the heads of the columns of names, indicate the generation, counting Robert as the first. The dates accompanying the names refer to the births and deaths. The number at the left of a name is the serial number from the body of this work.

IV.—PLAN OF THE RECORDS.

IN the following work an attempt has been made to exhibit the relationships of all persons born in America with the sur-name of Winchell, and all whose mothers were born with that name. In numerous cases the descendents of females are traced one generation further; but the members of the second generation from such females are not included in the numbered list. I have endeavored to give the precise date and place of the birth, marriage and death of each, with the name and residence of the person married, the principal place of residence, and leading events in the personal history. The numerous failures to present all these facts cannot be attributed to the compiler's lack of interest or efforts in the accumulation of them.

The members of the great WINDSOR BRANCH are first arranged in order, and after them, the other Branches. In each Branch the names are arranged by Generations, as nearly in chronological order as possible. It has been thought best to arrange in their probable places the members of the few Sub-branches that have not been actually traced to a junction with the main stem.

The date and place of birth of each person is given when first mentioned, but the remainder of the history, if such person became the head of a family, is given where he stands as such.

The serial number (standing at the left hand) always precedes the name. The faced numeral after the name designates the Family of which such name is the head; and may be found by turning forward.

Heads of families always stand in faced Roman letters; Founders of Sub-branches, in faced capitals.

The letter b stands for "born"; m for "married"; d for "died"; bap. for "baptized"; dau. for "daughter"; s. for "son"; ch for "children."

I.—WINDSOR BRANCH.

FIRST GENERATION.

1 ROBERT. Family 1.

ROBERT was probably born in the south of England—but perhaps in Wales. (See Introduction.) He was at Dorchester, Mass., undoubtedly as early as 1634; and removed to Windsor, Conn., about 1635. He died 21 Jan., 1669, and his wife died 10 July 1655. He had the following family:

2 Nathanael 2. b. probably before 1634 and perhaps brought with his parents from England.

3 Jonathan 3. b. proably at Dorchester before 1635.

4 PHEBE. b. Windsor, Ct.; bap. 29 March, 1638; d. Windsor, 1662.

5 MARY. b. Windsor; bap. 5 Sept., 1641; d. Windsor after 1668.

6 David 4. b. Windsor; bap. 22 Oct., 1643.

7 JOSEPH. b. Windsor; bap. 5 Apr., 1645; d. before 1668, as he was not named in his father's will.

8 MARTHA. b. Windsor; bap. 18 June, 1648; d. Windsor 12 July, 1655.

9 BENJAMIN. b. Windsor; bap. 11 July, 1652; d. Windsor where he was buried 24 June, 1656.

In the "History of the First Baptist Church in Boston from 1665 to 1818, by Rev. James M. Winchell, Boston, 1819," is an extract from "Dorchester Town Records," Jan. 4th, 1635, showing that "16 acres are set off to Robert Winchill between Roxbury and Dorchester (at the bounds)." New Eng. Hist. and Geneal. Regist., Vol. XXI. pp. 41 and 335.

Robert Wincoll (Winchell. See Introduction) was made a freeman at the General Court of the colony of Massachusetts Bay, 6 May, 1635.

Robert Wynchell was on the Jury in Conn., 1 Aug., 1640 and 30 June, 1646. (Rec. Gen. Court, Conn.)

From the Town Records of old Windsor, it appears that certain lands were assigned to Robert on the first division of the public domain among the original emigrants from Dorchester. The following is a copy of some of the original records entered by Matthew Grant, "Dec. 25th, 1640":

"Robert Winchel hath granted from the plantation an home lot, with the additions to it, nine acres, more or less, the breadth twelve rod, the length from the meadow bounds to George Phillips his land, bounded by Joshua Carter, north, and Joseph Clarke, south."

"Also, in the meadow adjoining, five acres and a half, more or less, in breadth nine rods, the length from the upland down to the Great River, [the Connecticut] bounded by Thomas Dibble, north, Joseph Clark, south."

"Toward Pine meadow fourteen acres and quarter, in breadth fourteen rods and quarter, the length from the great river back to the east one hundred and sixty rod."

"Robert Winchel hath exchanged with Thomas Dibble the lying of his meadow, and now stands bounded north by Samuel Gaylord, south by Anthony Hawkins."

"Thomas Dewey, legal attorney to Nicholas Canope and his wife Eady, formerly Eady Filley."

"Robert Winchel hath purchased of Thomas Dewey the house and land on which it stands, which was formerly belonging to Eady Filley, being in quantity three quarters of an acre, more or less, as it lies bounded by the land of Samuel Gaylord, north, of William Hannum, south, Thomas Buckland, his meadow, east, and the highway, west.

"Also, in the great meadow,* two acres, more or less, being in length from the home lots down to the Great River."

"Also hath purchased the half of Thomas Buckland's meadow, five acres and a half, more or less, in breadth ten rod, in length from the home lots to the great river. Bounded north by Peter Tilton, south by a highway."

"Also by exchange with William Hannum, his home lot, three quarters of an acre, more or less, in breadth five rod and six foot, in length from the highway down to the meadow bounds, bounded by the land of said Robert which he purchased of Eady Filley, north, and the land of Joshua Carter, dec'd, south."

The "home lot" of Robert was located toward the north end of Windsor Main street, north of the Farmington river, on the south east corner of Main street and the Bissell's Ferry road which leads to the ferry over the Connecticut river. (Stiles' Hist. of Ancient Windsor.) The lot is known as the "old Samuel Mather place," and when I visited it in 1867, was owned by Mr. Cushing. The old Mather house was still standing but removed back and used as a tobacco warehouse. A neat wooden framed dwelling occupies the site of the ancient homestead.

Under date of "Feb. 29th, 1659," Matthew Grant records another transaction in real estate by which Robert acquired 3½ acres. He made still another acquisition of 8 acres, 25 Oct., 1660. On the 30 Nov., 1663, Robert entered into an agreement to maintain a fence between his land and that of Joseph Clarke.

The whole amount of land acquired by Robert was at least 48 or 50 acres. He seems to have borrowed money of one Abigail Alcott, of Hartford, to the amout of forty two pounds, three shillings and one penny." "For the payment of the said sum," says the record of the mortgage, "I am to have three years time, beginning on the second day of April, 1667, and end the second of April, 1670, which said three years I am to pay yearly rent after eight pounds pr. 100 in wheat and peas, at the price current; and for her more certain security" he mortgaged two parcels of land.

Jan. 18th, 1859–60, Robert was enumerated among the householders of Windsor, and was rated 6s for a seat in the church for himself and wife.

Robert's will is dated 1668, and bequeathes his estate to his three sons, Nathaniel, Jonathan and David, and his daughter Mary.

SECOND GENERATION.

2 NATHANAEL. Family 2.

BORN probably in England before 1635, and brought to Dorchester with his parents. Married, 8 Apr., 1664, Sarah Porter, dau. of Thos. Porter, of Farmington, Ct. She was born in 1646 and died, Windsor, 7 Oct., 1725. He died Windsor, 8 Mar., 1699.

10 Nathanael 5. b. Windsor, 7 Aug., 1665.
11 Thomas 6. b. Windsor, 25 May, 1669.
12 Sarah 7. b. Windsor, 26 Dec., 1674.
13 Stephen 8. b. Windsor, 13 Aug., 1677.
14 John 9. b. Windsor, 1680.
15 Mary 10. b. Windsor, 1683.

In the old Windsor Land Records I find the following under date as early as "Dec. 15th 1658": "Nathanael Winchel hath by purchase of John Hakes, two acres of meadow in the great meadow, in breadth three rod and half, more or less, bounded north by a highway, south by the meadow of Samuel Gaylord, east by the great river, west by the bounds of the home lots in the swamp." Nathanael had, however, been made freeman, 21 May 1657.

"Feb. 16th, 1664. Nathanael Winchel hath land made over to him by his father, and to his heirs forever, viz:—his dwelling house, orchard and lands pertaining to it on the east side of the street, one acre and half, more or less, as it bounds north by the lands of Samuel Gaylord, south by the land of John Strong, west by the street, east by the swamp at the bounds of the meadow."

"This may certify that the above specified parcel of land recorded to Nathanael Winchel, he stood possessed of in the year 1668, and since to this day, in his own right, without any person claiming and prosecuting the claim thereto, in due form of law, as they had heard of, as appears by the testimony of John Bissill, Sr., and that it may be confirmed to him according to law, we have here signed to this record, seventh day of June 1684.

BENJAMIN NEWBERRY, Commissr.
THOMAS BISSILL, Select Man.

The following is an abstract of further transactions in real estate by Nathanael:—

Feb. 18. 1664. Obtained of Henry Stiles, 3½ acres in Windsor, "for good consideration." (Bk. I. p. 178.)

Feb. 27 1670. Bought of Joseph Gillet one acre on east side of the river. Also adjoining this "one acre and half." Latter, "made over again to John Styles."

Apr. 25 1673. Bought of Thomas Buckland 4 acres in Windsor. Also "of his brothers Jonathan and David, both jointly, all that land that was their father's, Robert Winchel, deceased, and was bequeathed to them and made over to them, as it lies on the westerly side of the common highway or street, as it lies bounded easterly against the common street, in breadth twenty-three rod and half, more or less, and is bounded north on the land of John Denslow and south by land of Thomas Dible, Senr., and for the length of it, from the common street until it comes over the wood swamp to the land of George Phillips Stoughton, and may be in quantity sixteen acres more or less. * * * "This made over. Witness, Matthew Grant."

Under same date Nathanael pays off the mortgage made by his father to Abigail Alcott, and thus comes into possession of two parcels of land. Nathanael was now sole proprietor of the estate left by his father.

Sep. 11 1677. Nathanael obtained from Samuel Gaylord of Windsor, by exchange, two parcels of land, 5 acres, on the west side, and one parcel on the east side of the river. Certified to him by the town officers 7 June 1684.

Feb. 27 1679. Nathanael sold John Osborn, Jr., one acre on the east side of the river. (Bk. I. p. 31.)

Feb. 22 1681. Nathanael bought of John Gaylord for 39 pounds, 10 acres on east side—ten rods on the river and 3 miles 10 rods east.

His wife Sarah, like most of the women of her time, was unable to sign her name. She was admitted to the Windsor Church, Aug. 1671. Savage says her father was of Hartford, but he may have moved thither after Sarah's marriage.

A Sarah Winchel, of Windsor, married Joseph Judd, of Farmington, 3 June 1713 (Farmington Town Records). As Nathanael's wife was only 53 at the time of his death, and her own relatives belonged in Farmington, this was probably Nathanael's widow.

3 JONATHAN. Family 3.

Born probably at Dorchester before 1635. Married 16 May 1666. Abigail Bruson, dau. of Richard Bruson (sometimes Brownson). She was born about 1644 and was baptized 29 May 1659; she d. Suffield, 27 March, 1710. He m. 2d, Mary Towsley, Suffield, March, 1713, who d. 10 Feb. 1729. He d. 5 March, 1715.

16 JONATHAN b. Windsor, Feb., 1667.
17 Jonathan 11. b. Windsor, 14 Feb., 1669.
18 Benjamin 12. b. Windsor, 28 June, 1674.
19 Abigail 13. b. Suffield, Conn., 8 June, 1679.

There may have been a younger daughter Phebe, since Phebe Winchell of Suffield m. Thomas Kent, 27 Oct. 1708.

The first wife's name is Bruson in the Windsor records, and Brownson in Savage's Geneal. of New England. The latter also states that she was perhaps the daughter of Richard Brownson of Farmington. There is some doubt whether there were two Jonathans among the ch. The first is given in Genealogical Register, vol. v., p. 363.

Jonathan was on the freemen's list in 1659. He was on the list to work the roads on the east side of the river in June 1672 (Stiles' Anc. Wind. 223). The same year he signed a petition for the organization of a new society on that side of the river. In 1673 he made over jointly with his brother David to their brother Nathanael all the property on the west side of the highway, which had been bequeathed to them by their father, "sixteen acres more or less." (See under Nathanael.) About this time he probably removed to Suffield.

6 DAVID. Family 4.

Born at Windsor, bap. 22 Oct. 1643; m. first Elizabeth Filley, dau. of William Filley of Windsor, 18 Nov. 1669. She was born 4 Mar. 1650. He died 1723 or 4, (probably at Suffield, Ct.)

20 Joseph 14. b. Windsor, 13 Sep., 1670, bap. 18 Sep., 1670.

David married, second, Mary Griffin of Windsor.

21 Christian b. Windsor, 9 Mar., 1673.

22 Elizabeth b. Windsor, 7 Dec., 1675.

23 Martha 15. b. Suffield.

24 David 16. b. Suffield, 19 March, 1682.

25 Mary 17. b. Suffield, 8 Feb., 1685.

26 Jedediah b. Suffield, 13 March, 1688; d. Suffield, 1690.

27 Jedediah b. Suffield, 29 Dec., 1690; m. Thankful Smith, of Suffield, 1710; she was b. 13 May 1692; he d. Suffield.

28 Samuel 18. b. Suffield, 9 June, 1693.

Mary Griffin was daughter of John of Windsor, and b. 1646. John was one of the first settlers of Simsbury, where he had a grant of land as a reward for the introduction of the manufacture of pitch and tar. He was representative for some years and died in 1681, leaving ten children.

Under date of 25 Apr. 1673 David sold to his brother Nathanael all of his paternal estate lying on the west side of the highway at Windsor. In the record of voluntary contributions for the relief of families distressed by "King Philip's war," David Winchel stands credited for 2s 6d.—date 1676. From this time David disappears from the Windsor records and his subsequent history is found in the records of Suffield. I have not been able, however, to obtain abstracts from the Land Records there.

THIRD GENERATION.

10 NATHANAEL. Family 5.

BORN Windsor, 7 Aug. 1665; m. Mary Graves of Hartford, 15 Mar., 1693; d. Farmington, 4 Oct. 1741. A farmer and weaver, and a Sergeant in the military service. Removed to Turkey Hills (in Windsor) and thence to Farmington.

29 Nathanael 19. b. Windsor, 23 Dec., 1694.

30 HANNAH b. Windsor, 5 Nov., 1695; m. Ebenezer Hurlbut 11 May, 1710. He was s. of John, of Middletown, and b. 17 Jan., 1683.

31 HEZEKIAH 20. b. Windsor, 20 June, 1697. Founder of Berlin Sub-Branch.

32 MERCY b. Windsor, 29 Feb., 1699. A Mercy Winchell married Amos Bronson of Farmington 13 June 1748 (Town Records.)

33 Zebediah b. Windsor. A Zebediah Winchell died 16 Feb., 1698.

June 15 1708. Nathanael Winchel, of Windsor, weaver, conveyed to John Winchel and Josiah Phelps (brother and brother-in-law) for "divers good causes and considerations" a tract on the east side of the river, 11 rods broad and 3 miles long, being 66 acres.

Oct. 21 1709. Nathanael Winchel of Windsor, weaver, purchased of Capt. Thos. Stoughton of Windsor, for 19 pounds, a piece of land on the east side of the river in the town of Windsor, partly upland and partly meadow land—"it being the same land that I, said Stoughton, lately bought of the said Winchel, and is 9 rods in breadth and 3 miles in length," (54 acres) "bounded north by lands of said Nathanael Winchel or Josiah Phelps and John Winchel."

Oct. 22 1700. John Winchel conveyed to his "loving brother Nathanael Winchel of Farmington," all that land on the east side of the river which was formerly Nathanael's—20 rods wide and 3 miles long.

At the same date Nathanael Winchel of Farmington, weaver, and Mary his wife, for 90 pounds, conveyed to John Gaylord Jr. a tract on the east side of the river 20 rods broad and 3 miles long (120 acres). Signed by Sarah Winchel (mother, who made her mark) Nathanael Winchel and Mary his wife (who also made her mark).

Dec. 8 1713. Nathanael Winchel, at the annual meeting of the Great Swamp Parish (now Kensington) at the southeastern boundary of Farmington, was chosen to take care and get firewood for Mr. Burnham, the minister. 8 Dec. 1714 he was chosen one of the moderators. 6 Dec. 1716. Voted by the society, "to give Nath'l Winchel ten shillings for his son's beating the drum on the Sabbath for the year past, to be paid in Mr. Burnham's rate this year." 7 Jan. 1716–17, the society by vote, seated the inhabitants in the "meeting house" and Nathanael Winchel Sen. was one of six to occupy the "first seat in the square body."

11 THOMAS. Family 6.

Born, Windsor, 25 May, 1669; d. Aug. 1697.

41 JERUSHA b. Windsor, 7 Nov., 1705.

42 JOSIAH b. Windsor, 24 Aug., 1708; m. Ann Griswold of Windsor. 14 Sep, 1733 and Hannah Saxton of Simsbury 18 Dec., 1734, Ch.:—Bildad, b. 22 Aug., 1739; Ann, b. 29 Mar., 1741. Was a Captain.

13 STEPHEN. Family 8.

Born, Windsor, 13 Aug., 1677; m. Abigail Marshfield 10 Mar., 1698; d. before 1728.

43 STEPHEN 22. b. Windsor, 20 Nov., 1698. Founder of Ulster Sub-Branch.

44 THOMAS 23. b. Windsor, 2 Apr., 1700. Founder of Hampden Sub-Branch.

45 CALEB b. Windsor, 6 Dec., 1701; m. Mary Owen. At Poquonnock (a society of Windsor) in 1723. On the 26 Jan. 1729 Caleb bought of Josiah Higley for 42 pounds, 16 acres of land in Simsbury towards the north-east corner adjoining land belonging to Stephen Winchel Senr.

Mar. 14, 1734, Caleb and his brothers Thomas, Robert, Martin and Stephen divided among themselves the 100-acre lot in Simsbury, bequeathed to them by their father.

Jan. 26, 1735-6, Caleb bought of Josiah Bissell of Windsor for 46 pounds, 46 acres of land in Simsbury adjoining other land already in his possession.

On the same date, Caleb sold to Isaac Owen Jr. for 12 pounds 10 shilling, 13 acres of land in Windsor, adjoining Caleb's land in Simsbury.

Dec. 1742, Caleb deeded to the representatives of the town of Windsor for a highway 13 acres of land, and received in exchange 12¼ in another location.

May 31, 1743, Caleb of Windsor bought of his brother Robert of Simsbury, for 300 pounds, 50 acres of land at Turkey Hills (a society in the west part of Windsor, now E. Granby.)

Oct. 25, 1743. In the division of the "Windsor town commons," Caleb Winchel received lot 275 amounting to 20 acres and 80 rods.

Apr. 3, 1744, Caleb of Windsor, for 1200 pounds bought of John Lewis of Simsbury two tracts of land at Turkey Hills—one of 40 acres, the other of one acre and a dwelling house.

Nov. 16, 1745, Caleb of Windsor, for 560½ pounds, sold Gideon Moore of Simsbury, land at Turkey Hills with a dwelling house thereon.

On the same day he bought of Samuel Griswold of Simsbury for 32 pounds, 16 acres of land at Turkey Hills—the same which Robert Winchel lately sold said Griswold.

Dec. 11, 1752. In a division of common and undivided lands in the town of Windsor, on the west side of the river, a lot was assigned to Caleb Winchel, containing 24 acres.

Sep. 1, 1756, Caleb, still at Windsor, deeded land to Thomas Winchel of Simsbury (see 43 Thomas.)

The foregoing information from the public records of Windsor and Simsbury is all that I have learned of Caleb. It does not appear that he was married though he seems to have been a citizen of respectability and worth.

46 Dorothy b. Windsor, 2 Oct., 1703.

47 Robert 24. b. Windsor, 28 May, 1705.

48 Martin 25. b. Windsor, 23 Dec. 1708.

Abigail Marshfield, 13 Stephen's wife, was probably descended from Thomas who came from Exeter, England, to Dorchester in 1630, and afterward to Windsor (supposed as early as 1639) whence he removed in 1643. He is believed to have been the father of Samuel Marshfield, one of the proprietors of Westfield, who died at Springfield 1692.

13 Stephen was unable to write. Under date of 23 June 1707, Samuel Wilcoxon Senr. of Simsbury, "for a valnable sum of silver money to the quantity of ten pounds" conveyed to Stephen Winchel, "husbandman," of Windsor, a parcel of land in Simsbury township "amongst a teer of lots towards Symsberry north-east corner bounds, being the 17th lot there." Deemed 89 or 90 acres.

June 4, 1708. Stephen of Windsor, for 44 pounds, conveyed to John of Windsor 10 acres of meadow, being part of a home-lot west of the river and north of the rivulet (Farmington river.)

Under same date Samuel Gibbs, for 30 pounds, conveyed to Stephen and John Winchel, both of Windsor, 10 acres.

June 13, 1711. Stephen, late of Windsor, now resident of Simsbury, deeded to his brother John, of Windsor, for 12 pounds 10 shillings paid, and 5½ pounds "secured in the law to be paid to me within half a year after the decease of my honored mother Sarah Winchel," a piece of land in the great meadow, 2 acres, "being one half of the 4 acres which was set out to me out of my father's estate as part of my portion." Two thirds of this was to the use of John Winchel immediately, and the other third after the death of his mother.

Under the same date Stephen conveyed the other half of the same real estate to his brother in law Samuel Gibbs, Jr.—two thirds for immediate possession and one third on the death of their mother.

Sep. 30, 1715. Stephen of Simsbury purchased of En och Phelps for 21 pounds, 10 acres in Windsor, at a place "known as Salsbery Plain."

In a division of the commons lying a mile to the east of the 3 mile tracts on the east side of the river, and half a mile to the west, on the west side of the river, lot 321 was assigned in 1723 to Stephen Winchel's heirs, containing 4¾ acres. Again, in a survey of lands in Simsbury belonging to several persons who had grants made to them by the town, at their town meeting 2 Jan. 1732–3, 88 acres were laid out to the heirs of Stephen Winchel. At still another division, same date, 3 acres (lot No. 5) were laid out to the heirs of Stephen Winchel, "on the west side of the mountain near the copper hill." Finally, in a division of the "equivalent land, so called," in the township of Windsor, consummated 1 May, 1743, lot 149 in the first tier, was assigned to Stephen Winchel's heirs, containing 16 acres and half.

57 MARTHA b. Windsor, 5 Dec, 1726; d. Windsor, 17 Jan., 1729.

Martha Eno was dau. of John, b. 10 May, 1681, who was son of James who settled at Windsor in 1646. Martha, like most women of her time was unable to sign her name.

Nov. 7, 1702. Josiah Strong of Colchester, Conn., husbandman, for 28 pounds paid by Samuel Gibbs Jr., and John Winchel, of Windsor, conveyed two tracts of land in Windsor "for the improvement of my mother Buckland during her natural life"—1st parcel 3½ acres, bounded N. by lands of John Denslow Jr., S. by land of formerly John Denslow, now John Winchell, E. by the Great River, W. by the swamp; 2d, ¾ acre bounded N. by land formerly belonging to Robert Winchell, now, to the heirs of Thomas Winchell, late of Windsor, deceased, etc.

June 4, 1708. John Winchell, husbandman, for 41 pounds, conveyed to Samuel Gibbs his share of the land held jointly by them under deed of 7 Nov., 1705.

Under same date bought land of his brother Stephen and his brother in law Samuel Gibbs Jr.

On the same date he bought land of his brother Nathanael—66 acres on the east side of the river.

Oct. 22, 1709. John "quit claimed" to his loving brother Nathanael, land on the east side of the river.

June 13, 1711. John received of his brother Stephen, in trust, certain land for the benefit of their mother.

March 9, 1715. Joseph Judd and Ebenezer Hulbert of "Symsbery" for 40 pounds, paid by John Winchel of Windsor, conveyed two tracts of land in Windsor—the first containing a "mansion dwelling house," the second being two acres of ground.

March 15, 1715. Sarah Winchel of Windsor, for love and good will for her loving son and daughter, John Winchel and Mary Gibbs, wife of Samuel Gibbs, Jr., conveyed three tracts of land in Farmington "which I have by virtue of an agreement or conveyance by or from the children or heirs of Thomas Porter Senr." Number of acres not stated.

Jan. 26, 1716. Nath'l and Mabel Hall of Suffield, Mass., for 20 pounds paid by John Winchel of Windsor, conveyed one third part of two tracts of land in Windsor.

Dec. 10, 1718, "About sunset." "John Winchel his earmark for his creatures is a slit down the top of the neer ear, and a slit in the under side of the off ear. Recorded by me Timothy Loomis Register."

Aug. 14, 1719. John Allen of Windsor quit claimed to John Winchel of Windsor, a certain tenement or piece of land on which his house and barn were standing.

Same date. John Winchel and Martha of Windsor, for 66 pounds paid by Jonathan Styles, conveyed a certain house and one acre and half of land, lying in Windsor—"being that which I bought of the heirs of my brother Thomas Winchel, deceased. Also 3½ acres in the "great meadow." "And Sarah Winchel, widow, mother of said John Winchel" relinquished her claims to said property.

Nov. 3, 1729. In a division of the commons lying a mile to the east of the 3-mile tracts on the east side of the river, Lot No. 50 was laid out for John Winchel, containing 93 acres.

Apr. 24, 1733. John Winchel of Windsor, for love and good will, conveyed to his three sons, John, Samuel and Ebenezer, of Windsor, his home-lot with dwelling house thereon; also all the remainder of his lands in the township of Windsor, divided and undivided; also the land which he held in the township of Farmington—to have in equal proportion. (Records of Windsor and Torrington.)

In a book at Windsor entitled, "Here followeth the laying out of the first lotts at Farmington, Anno Dom., 1734." I find "No. 31, A Lott laid out to John Winchel, containing 53 acres and half." [Here follow boundaries.]

May 1, 1734. In a division of the "Equivalent Land" in the township of Windsor, Lot 253 was assigned to John Winchel's heirs, containing 26 acres, being 26 rods wide to an oak staddle and stones, and in length 160 rods, bounding south by Tolland, etc.

Hezekiah was a farmer at Windsor and removed to Kensington. He built there the mill known for many years, as "Winchell's mill," and more recently as "Moore's mill," but at present known as the "Chisel Shop" of the Hart Manufacturing Co. April 27, 1752, a petition for division of the Parish of Kensington, in the town of Farmington, (not granted) was signed by Solomon Winchell, Hezekiah Winchell and Hezekiah Winchell, Jr. July 14, 1756, Hezekiah Winchell, and Mary, his wife, were members of the church in Kensington; as also 6 Feb., 1757. In his will he left a farm to each of his three surviving sons.

34 SAMUEL. Family 21.

(Supposed Founder of New Hampshire Sub-branch.)

Born (Windsor?) 5 Jan., 1690.

118 Job 41.

119 James 42.

The father of Job and James—whether 34 Samuel or not—is said by Thomas J. Winchell, the humorist, to have been a Baptist preacher at Stanford, Ct. He is also said to have descended from one of "three brothers" who emigrated from Wales in the earlier part of the seventeenth century and settled in Providence Plantation and the colony of Massachusetts Bay. I have already stated my reasons for disbelieving that any person by the name of Winchell settled in Providence Plantation. (See Introduction.) From Mrs. Lovina Wadleigh, of Lawrence, Mass., I have information that the father of Job and James settled in Conn. at or near Hartford, where he taught school many years. She states that he came from England with his brother; that the latter was conscripted by English officers and placed on board a man-of-war to serve under the King; that he deserted and settled in Sandford, Me., calling himself Willard, and that after the return of peace Congress legalized the change of name. She also states that Job and James had sisters. I have not been able to obtain any further statements from representatives of this Sub-branch in reference to their remote ancestry; and the records in my possession render it probable that Job and James are descended from ROBERT, while it is also not improbable that 34 Samuel was their father.

43 STEPHEN. Family 22.

(Founder of the Ulster Sub-branch.)

Born Windsor, 20 Nov., 1698; m. Mary Rouse, of Nine Partners, Dutchess Co., N. Y., about 1744; d. in Dutchess county. Mary was b. 1705.

120 Lemuel 43. b. Nine Partners, Dutchess Co., N. Y.
121 James 44. b. Nine Partners, Dutchess Co., N. Y.
122 John 45. b. Nine Partners, Dutchess Co., N. Y.
123 Rebecca 46. b. Nine Partners, Dutchess Co., N. Y.

At the town meeting in Simsbury, held 2 Jan., 1732–3, Lot No. 11, 36 acres, "on the west side of the mountain, near the copper hill," was assigned to Stephen Winchell, Jr.

43 Stephen, on the 14th of March, 1734, received land from the town of Torrington, as I learn from an old MS. entitled, "Here followeth the Laying out of the first Lotts in Torrington, Anno Dom. 1734," which contains the following: "No. 23, a lot laid out to Stephen Winchell containing 4 acres and 90 rods." (Here follow boundaries.)

On the same date Stephen and his brothers Thomas, Caleb, Robert and Martin, divided among themselves the 100 acre lot bequeathed to them by their late father Stephen, situated at Turkey Hills, in Simsbury.

Dec. 12, 1737, Stephen and his brother Martin sold their brother Thomas, for 12 pounds, ten acres of land at a place known as Pope's Farm, near Salisbury Plain, "which land our honored father Stephen Winchell bought of Enoch Phelps, our rights therein being two-fifths parts thereof."

Dec. 13, 1737, Stephen for money and land sold his brother Thomas, of Simsbury, land at Turkey Hills, being one-fifth part of two tracts "which were granted and surveyed unto our honored father Stephen." 31 May, 1743, "Stephen Winchel, late of Windsor, now of Simsbury," united with his brothers in making over to John Thrall, for 9 pounds, "a piece of land in Windsor in that division commonly called the mile and half mile division, bounded north on Suffield," etc.

There is no further record of Stephen in Connecticut; but in a division of public lands at Windsor 1 May, 1743, Lot 149, containing 16½ acres, was allotted to Stephen Winchell's heirs, (perhaps 13 Stephen.)

About this time 43 Stephen seems to have launched into the western wilderness; since we next learn of him on the estate of "The Great Nine Partners," in Dutchess county, N. Y., where he married, about 1744. This tract or patent, granted about 1714, was a belt ten miles wide, stretching across the county from the Hudson river to "The Oblong," (1¾ miles from the Connecticut state line) and comprising parts of the present towns of Rhinebeck, Hyde Park, Clinton, Pleasant Valley, Washington and Amenia, and the whole of Stanford. In North East the north line of the tract was the north line of the "old James Collins farm." "The Little Nine Partners'" patent covered the present towns of Pine Plains and Milan, and part of North East.

One of the Great Nine Partners, named Rouse, had a daughter Mary whom 43 Stephen married. He lived and died in Dutchess Co., though all his family removed to Ulster, on the opposite side of the Hudson. It is not known upon what part of the Great Nine Partners' patent 43 Stephen resided, but 64, Lewis Hollister states that it was near the Connecticut line. As his younger brother, Robert, is known to have settled in the "North Precinct in Dutchess Co., N. Y.," it is probaable that Stephen lived either in North East or the contiguous parts of the town of Stanford.

44 THOMAS. Family 23.

(Founder of Hampden Sub-branch.)

Born Windsor, 2 April, 1700; m. Mary Owen, who was b. 13 Apr., 1707 He lived at Turkey Hills, Conn.

124 Thomas 47. b. Turkey Hills, (now E. Granby; then a Parish of Windsor.)

125 Elisha 48.

126 Jehiel b. Turkey Hills. Living there 10 Dec., 1783.

Jehiel does not seem to have had a family though he owned a considerable estate. Nov. 6, 1767, he sold Joel Clark, for 78 pounds, 27½ acres at Turkey Hills—bounding on his brothers Thomas and Martin; 5 Apr., 1768, he sold to his father, Lieut. Thomas, for 35 pounds, 6 acres at Turkey Hills, bounding on his brother Elisha; 1 June, 1779, he bought of John Slater, for "800 pounds, continental bills," 54 acres in Simsbury, "near the great pond, so called;" 21 June, 1782, he mortgaged this land to Oliver Winchell for 59 pounds, and 10 Dec., 1783, he sold it to Oliver for 130 pounds.

127 Abigail b. Turkey Hills, Feb., 1743; d. Turkey Hills, 11 June, 1747. From the burying ground at Turkey Hills:—"Abigail, daughter of Thomas Winchel, died June 11th, 1747, aged 4 yrs. and 9 mos."

Mary Owen, 44 Thomas' wife is supposed to have been great grand daughter of John who came from Wales and settled in Windsor. John was b. 25 Dec., 1624, and settled at a place called then and now Polly's Orchard, on the opposite side of the stream from Poquonnock, in Windsor.

44 Thomas, on the 2d of Jan., 1732–3, by vote of town meeting, received 40 acres within the bounds of Simsbury, in addition to what he and his brothers received as heirs of Stephen their father. At another division of land authorized at the same time, he received 30 acres, being the 13th Lot, "on the west side of the mountain near the copper hill."

Mar. 14, 1734, he and his brothers divided among themselves the 100 acre lot bequeathed by their father, lying in the north part of Simsbury, near Turkey Hills.

Feb. 23, 1735–6, he purchased of his brother Martin, for 155 pounds, several tracts of land at Turkey Hills.

Feb. 27, 1736–7, he (with two others) purchased of Obediah Owen, 47 acres of land in Windsor.

Aug. 5, 1738, Ebenezer Smith of Suffield, and Thos. Winchel of Simsbury, bought a joint estate of 53 acres, at Salisbury Plain, in Windsor, which "formerly belonged to our honored father Obediah Owen, of said Windsor," bounded south partly on land belonging to the heirs of Stephen Winchell. This they divided between them.

Aug. 26, 1738, he and Ebenezer Smith had another transaction, in which Thomas sold Smith for 18 pounds, a half interest in 48 acres at Salisbury Plain.

March 14, 1738–9, Thomas exchanged land in Simsbury for one third interest in 47 acres in Windsor.

In the division of Windsor town commons made 25 Oct., 1743, lot 321, containing 20 acres, was assigned to Thomas Winchell—"in width 20 rods to a stake standing six foot from an oak tree marked. Butts south on Isaac Brown's land, west on highway, north on Samuel Drake's land, east on sequestered land."

Mar. 27, 1747, Lieutenant Thomas Winchell of Simsbury, bought of Gideon Moore, for 800 pounds, 102 acres at Turkey Hills.

Jan. 25, 1748–9, "Thomas Winchell of Simsbury, for love and good will to his son Thomas Winchell, Jr., of Simsbury," and as part of his portion, to the value of 800 pounds, confirmed to him 50 acres of land at Turkey Hills—being the east end of the lot bought of Gideon Moore, with dwelling house thereon.

Feb. 18, 1755, Thomas, on the same terms, deeded 800 pounds worth of land (48 acres) at Turkey Hills, to his son Elisha.

Apr. 10, 1759, Thomas also confirmed to his son Jehiel, two lots of land in Turkey Hills, adjoining a lot previously owned by Jehiel—also 6 acres adjoining Elisha's land—3 rods square.

Feb. 13, 1760, Thomas Winchel and Joshua Holcomb divided land at Turkey Hills.

Dec. 10, 1766, Lieut. Thomas Winchell brought six suits against Thomas Winchel, Jr., (evidently his own son) and levied on land worth in the aggregate about 25 pounds.

Nov. 6, 1767, Lieut. Thomas, of Simsbury, bought 12 acres at Turkey Hills, "between the highway and the mountain"—bounding on land of Martin Winchel, Jr. The same day he made an exchange of land with Joel Clark.

Apr. 1, 1768, Lieut. Thomas, for 41 pounds, sold Martin Winchel, Jr., 9 acres at Turkey Hills.

Apr. 17, 1770, Lieut. Thomas, for 28 pounds, bought of Dea. Samuel Owen 2 acres and a mansion house at Turkey Hills.

From this date his name disappears from the records. For other transactions, see under his brothers Stephen, Caleb, Robert and Martin.

47 ROBERT. Family 24.

Born Windsor, 28 May, 1705; m. Lydia Hollebirt of Woodbury, Ct., 6 Sept., 1733. Lived at Turkey Hills, Ct., and at or near North East, Dutchess Co., N. Y. Lydia was probably dau. of Ebenezer Hollebird. (The name is spelled variously; and is the same as Hurlbut.)

128 LYDIA b. Turkey Hills, 8 July, 1734.

129 JUSTUS 49. b. Nine Partners, Dutchess Co., N. Y. Founder of Washington Sub-branch.

130 (Twin brother.)

131 Timothy 50. b. Nine Partners, N. Y.

132 (Dau.) b. Nine Partners, N. Y.; m. Trowbridge.

133 (Dau.) b. Nine Partners, N. Y.; m. Hanchet.

Nov. 14, 1733, Robert purchased of John Lewis of Suffield, for 16 pounds, a dwelling house and an acre of land at Turkey Hills, formerly belonging to Ebenezer Hollebird of Simsbury.

Mar. 14, 1734, Robert and his four brothers divided among themselves the "100 acre lot" bequeathed to them jointly by their father Stephen.

Nov. 1, 1737, Robert sold his brother Martin the house and lot bought in 1733. On the 4th of March, 1738–9 he repurchased this property of Martin, as also another piece of land and an orchard—10 acres—adjoining the house-lot, paying for the whole 100 pounds. On the same date he resold to Samuel Owen, for 31 pounds, the house and lot.

June 29, 1740, Robert bought of Azariah Case of Newark, N. J., for 150 pounds, 50 acres at Turkey Hills. Sold, 31 May, 1743, to his brother Caleb, for 300 pounds.

Sept. 1, 1740, Robert and William Moore agreed upon a boundary line between them.

May 31, 1743, Robert sold Benjamin Griswold, for 300 pounds, 43 acres at Turkey Hills, bounded north on Thomas Winchell. [Spelt for the first time with two l's. From Simsbury Record.]

June 4, 1743, Robert sold his brother Thomas, for 28 pounds, two tracts at Turkey Hills, "which were granted and surveyed unto my honored father Stephen Winchell, of Simsbury, dec'd."

In a division of "Windsor Town Commons," made 25 Oct., 1743, Lot 86 was assigned to Robert Winchell, "containing two acres and half, in width three rods to a stake marked R. W. Butts south on land of Maj. Henry Allyn," &c.

In the XIth volume of Windsor records, p. 104, I find the following: "Robert Winchell, of the North Precinct in Dutchess Co., N. Y., for 30 pounds, old tenor bills, paid by my brother Thomas Winchell, of Simsbury, Conn.," conveys to him two acres at Turkey Hills, in Windsor,—"it being in partnership with my brothern," and "is the fifth part of a Ten lott," &c. 4 Nov, "in the 28 year of his majesty's Reign George ye Second of Great Britain, &c., king, Anno D. 1754." Acknowledged in Salisbury, Ct., 4 Nov., 1754.

The "North Precinct" embraced what is now known as the town of North East. From the records it would appear that Robert removed to Dutchess county at some time between 25 Oct., 1743, and 4 Nov., 1754. He probably removed with his brother, about 1744; since we have already seen that Stephen disappears from the Conn. records 31 May, 1743, almost simultaneously with his brother Robert, and reappears in Dutchess county about 1744. From 289 Ira Winchell, I get information which identifies this Robert with his grandfather. Ira says he lived in Mass., [probably Conn., A. W.] near Winchell's Pond. I've heard my father tell about the Nine Partners. I should think my grandfather lived in Dutchess county at Nine Partners," &c. I know nothing further of 47 Robert.

48 MARTIN. Family 25.

Ensign Martin Winchell was b. at Windsor, Ct., 23 Dec., 1708; m. Lucy ——, who was b. 1705, and d. 29 May, 1785. He d. Turkey Hills, (now East Granby) 14 Feb., 1785.

134 Martin 51. b. Turkey Hills about 1739.

135 JAMES 52. b. Turkey Hills, 1741. Founder of Dutchess Sub-branch.

136 NATHANAEL 53. b. Turkey Hills about 1751. Co-Founder of Vermont Sub-branch.

137 DAN 54. b. Turkey Hills, 1753. Co-Founder of Vermont Sub-branch.

138 Lucy 55. b. Turkey Hills.

139 DEBORAH b. Turkey Hills; m. Simeon Lewis, a lawyer of distinction at Windsor.

140 ABIGAIL b. Turkey Hills, 1748; m. Alexander Phelps son of Joseph b. 1688; son of Joseph b. 1667; son of Joseph, who came from Eng. to Windsor with his brother Samuel, (Phelps' Hist. Simsbury.) She d. Turkey Hills, 4 May, 1773.

141 DOLLY b. Turkey Hills; m. —— Barnet.

142 TIMOTHY b. about 1745. I have no information of this Timothy except from Col. John Winchell of North East, N. Y., who says: "I well remember that Timothy, the brother of my grandfather, (135 James) visited my father and his brothers the winter that I taught school on the Winchell Mountain, which was in 1814–15. He was at my father's some time, and his head was white—age probably 70 or over."

Ensign Martin's first appearance in the records of Windsor and Simsbury is under date of 30 March, 1729, when he bought, for 40 pounds, 50 acres in the north part of Simsbury—"marsh and upland"—"lyeth between Manatuck and the Turkey Hill mountain";—also, for 95 pounds, 75 acres, with dwelling house, "lying and being situate near the copper hill, within the township of Simsbury."

March 14, 1734, he and his brothers Stephen, Thomas, Caleb and Robert, made a division of the 100 acre lot "which was our honored father's, late of Simsbury, dec'd."

Feb. 23, 1735–6, Martin bought of Josiah Higley, for 260 pounds, two tracts, containing 70 acres, at Turkey Hills—one on the west side of the highway, bounded south by land of Thomas Winchell—another on the east side of the highway opposite the first, bounded south partly on land of Thomas Winchell and partly on Caleb, easterly by land of Caleb, and northerly by the highway bordering the burying ground. At the same time he sold, for 155 pounds, to Thomas, several tracts at Turkey Hills.

Under date of Nov. 1, 1837, I find a record of which the following is an abstract: "Robert Winchell of Windsor, for 100 pounds paid by Martin Winchell of Simsbury," conveys to him "a certain dwelling house and about one acre of land lying in Windsor aforesaid, at a place called Turkey Hills, which was formerly Ebenezer Hulburt's, formerly of Simsbury, aforesaid, now of said Windsor, as the same is bounded west on the place formerly soposed Simsbury, east bounds, fifteen rod in length, and ten rods wide by compute, be it more or less; as also another piece of land and an orchard, in estimation ten acres, be it more or less, as it bounds north on land of Stephen Winchell, south on land called Mr. Thompson's, west on Simsbury east line, east partly on land of Samuel Owins, and partly on the forementioned piece lying in Windsor at a place called Turkey Hills, aforesaid, with the privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging, as fence, orchard, timber, trees, etc.'

Dec. 12th, 1737, Martin united with his brother Stephen in selling to Thomas their interest in 10 acres at a place known as Pope's Farm, near Salisbury Plain, [between Poquonnock and Turkey Hills.]

March 4, 1739, he resold to Robert the real estate purchased of him in 1737.

May 31, 1743, he united with Stephen, Thomas, Caleb and Robert in selling a piece of land in Windsor, bordering on Suffield. He still resided in Simsbury.

Sept., 1756, he owned land in Simsbury adjoining lands owned by his brothers Caleb and Thomas.

March 1, 1759, he bought of Benjamin Griswold, for 20 shillings, 30 acres and 60 rods of land laid out to Stephen Winchell, Jr., (his brother) "bounded west on the ledge of the mountain."

Apr. 18, 1768, he bought for 10 pounds, 22 acres in the town of Windsor.

Apr. 27, 1772, he bought of Zaccheus Gillet, for 63 pounds, 9 acres in Windsor adjoining, on the west, land previously owned by him.

Nov. 3, 1772, he bought of Isaac Pinney, for 56 pounds 5 shillings, 45 acres of land in the township of Windsor, "on the Plains a little westerly of Rainbow brook," etc.

March 12, 1776, he bought of Zaccheus Gillet, for 55 pounds, 15 acres lying in Simsbury and Windsor, in Turkey Hills Parish, on the east side of the mountain, bounding west on a drain on the east side of the lake swamp, so-called," * * * "east on said Martin Winchell's land.

March 22, 1782, he purchased of Micah Moore, for 57 pounds, 9 acres in Windsor.

This seems to have been his last transaction in real estate. In the burying ground at East Granby, (Turkey Hills) I have visited the last resting place of the remains of Ensign Martin and his wife. The two stones are of Portland brown sandstone, well finished for the times, still erect and in a good state of preservation. The following are the two epitaphs: "In memory of Ensign Martin Winchell who died February the 14th A D. 1785 in the 77th year of his age.

"Children see where your parents lie,
"Remember you were born to die."

"Mrs. Lucy, relict of Ensign Martin Winchell died May 29th 1785 in the 71st year of her age.

"Children see where your parence lie
"Remember you are born to die."

The inscriptions face the graves, as was customary in those days. The footstone of the first bears this inscription: "Ensign Martin Winchell"—that of the other, simply, "L W"

51 SAMUEL. Family 26.

(Founder of the Maine Sub-branch.)

Col. Samuel Winchell was b. at Windsor, Ct., 15 March, 1711; m. Sarah McNeiss of Harpswell, Me., about 1738; d. Topsham, Me., 4 Feb., 1783. Lived at Topsham, where his w. died 18 Mar., 1785. She was b. 1718.

145 Samuel b. Topsham, } These boys were both drowned; though as the 146 James b. Topsham, } body of one was never found, suspicion existed that he was taken by Indians.

147 Martha 57. b. Topsham.

148 Sarah 58. b. Topsham, 1750.

149 Silence b. Topsham; m. James Purinton, Topsham, Me., 23 Nov., 1786; no ch. Purinton was one of the "Committee of Correspondence," etc., in 1778; went in 1750, with his father to Georgetown, (now Bath); when of age settled at "ye basin" at Phippsburg; afterward removed to Topsham.

150 Mary 59. b. Topsham.

151 Hannah b. Topsham, 1759; d. Topsham 29 July, 1823; not m.

51 Samuel seems to have penetrated into the forests of Maine as early certainly as 1738. His brother Ebenezer at first accompanied him, but subsequently returned and settled in Torrington. Samuel resided at Harpswell for some time after his marriage. In 1750 he settled at what was then and is now known as Cathance Mills, about 5 miles above the village of Bowdoinham, on the Cathance river, a tributary of the Kennebec. The mills were erected by Samuel. He acquired with Jacob Eaton, a joint title to this property by virtue of a deed from Isaac Royall, dated 15 Nov., 1750. This conveyed 500 acres and all of Royall's rights in said stream. Samuel seems to have become one fourth proprietor of the Cathance mill right, embracing 1100 acres.

Dec. 28, 1757, Samuel sold to Adam Hunter all his rights to 125 acres in common, and one eighth of a double saw-mill and stream.

Nov. 21, 1759, Belcher Noyes, "foeffer in trust for ye creditcrs of estate of Adam Winthrop, Esq., late of Boston," seems to have sold Samuel Winchell one eight interest in certain undivided land in Topsham, which, Jan. 1, 1760, Samuel sold to John Patten.

June 15, 1761, in the division of the 1100 acres, a small lot, No. 4, was assigned to Samuel as his house lot.

Feb. 13. 1765, Col. Winchell sold to James and Robert Fulton "one six-teenth of ye double saw and stream on ye lower falls at Cathance."

Feb. 13, 1777, Samuel Winchell of Topsham, Mass., (now Maine) deeded land to Ebenezer Winchell of Torrington, Ct.

Samuel Winchell is said to have been styled Colonel "from ye circumstance of being a superior officer and worthy member of a fraternity" whose name is not stated.

56 EBENEZER. Family 27.

(Founder of the Torrington Sub-branch.)

Born Windsor, Conn., 31 Mar., 1722; m. Thankful Loomis of Southwick, (Hist. of New Britain says Westfield) Mass. She d. Torringford, Ct., and he d. same place 2 Jan., 1778.

152 Thankful 60. b. Torrington, Ct., about 1756.

153 Daniel 61. b. Torrington, 1758.

154 Silence 62. b. Torrington about 1760.

155 Bethia 63. b. Torrington.

156 John 64. b. Torrington.

Apr. 24, 1733, Ebenezer Winchell of Windsor, in common with his two brothers, John and Samuel, received from his father John, a deed to certain land in Torrington.

Nov. 12, 1755, John (probably Jr.) of Windsor, and Ebenezer of Westfield, Mass., deeded certain land in Torrington to one Gaylord.

Dec. 10, 1753, land was deeded to Ebenezer of Torrington.

Feb. 3, 1777, Ebenezer purchased his brother Samuel's Torrington estate.

Ebenezer was among the first settlers of Torringford; but further information is wanting.

62 DANIEL. Family 28.

Born Suffield, Ct., 10 July, 1709.

157 JONATHAN 65. Founder of Onion River Sub-branch.

158–165 Son and seven daughters.

I have no direct proof that 157 Jonathan was a son of 62 Daniel. The traditions and circumstances, however, point to this connection.

68 AZARIAH. Family 29.

Born Suffield, 5 Apr. 1710.

166 AZARIAH 66. Co-Founder of the Egremont Sub-branch.

167 JOSEPH 67. Co-Founder of the Egremont Sub-branch.

There is no certain proof that 166 Azariah was the son of 68 Azariah, but circumstances strongly favor this connection.

79 JOSEPH. Family 30.

Born Suffield, Ct., 15 May, 1720; m. Wid. Ann Denslow, 11 Apr., 1751.

168 Tryphena b. Windsor, 5 May, 1752.

I am not positive that this Joseph is the same as 79 Joseph, but there is little doubt. It is probable that Joseph removed from Suffield to Windsor where he married his wife. The birth of his dau. is recorded there; and moreover, a Joseph Winchell purchased a dwelling house and six acres of land in Windsor the same year that Tryphena was born.

83 DAVID. Family 31.

Born Suffield, 22 Sept., 1710; m. Mary Trumble, Suffield, 9 June, 1731.

169 David 68. b. Suffield.

170 (Unknown) 69.

169 David is not positively known to be son of 83 David.

91 JOHN. Family 32.

Born Suffield, 31 May, 1737; m. Eusebiah King, 1 Apr., 1763.

180 AMASA 74. b. Kensington, Ct., 15 Dec., 1766.

Lieutenant Benjamin Winchell was an officer in the Conn. troops during the Revolution. He removed from Kensington, Ct., to the town of Harpersfield, about 1777, and soon after to Westfield, Mass., where he lived till 1788, when he removed to Choconut, N. Y., on the Susquehanna. In 1798, he accompanied his son Amasa to Scipio, Cayuga Co., N. Y., where he remained till his death, which, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Markham, of Suisun City, Cal., was caused by the fall of a tree.

Job was a man of education, and is known to have been engaged in the business of teaching at or near Hartford, Ct., and afterwards at Berwick, Me. He also served his country in the struggles of the Revolution, acting, according to one statement, in the capacity of Quartermaster or Paymaster in the "Continentals." He was taken prisoner and confined in the famous prison ship Jersey, where he suffered the fate of so many of his comrades. In the graphic language of 545 Thos. J. Winchell, of this Sub-branch, "His bones bleached in the Wallabout."

119 JAMES. Family 42.

Born probably in Hartford county, Ct.; d. 1826. Lived chiefly in New York city.

220 James Fleming 93. b. Stamford, Ct., Jan., 1776.

221 Harriet 94. b. New York.

James removed to New York before the Revolution, and opened a book store in Peck Slip. He owned the property on the south east corner of Gold and Ferry streets. "The corporation cheated his son and daughter out of this property." He was considered a very able writer. He wrote a political pamphlet advocating the cause of the patriots, for for which he was imprisoned in "the old sugar house." (Mostly from the lips of Thomas J. Winchell.) Another informant states that he "was a man of piety, learning and musical talent, and took an active part in the then impending crisis."

120 LEMUEL. Family 43.

Born on the Great Nine Partners' Patent, Dutchess county, N. Y., 1745; d. Olive, Ulster Co., N. Y., 16 Oct., 1827. His wife, like his father's, was Dutch, (615 Dewitt C. Winchell); she d. 11 Apr., 1829.

222 Peter 95. b. Olive, Ulster county, N, Y., 23 May, 1773.

223 Charity 96. b. Olive, N. Y.

228 Susan 101. Olive, N. Y., 17 June, 1788.
229 Conrad 102. b. Olive, N. Y., about 1789.
230 Elizabeth (Betsey) 103. b. Olive, N. Y., 20 Sept., 1791.
231 Lemuel 104. b. Olive, N. Y., about 1792.
232 Vangosbeck (Gosbeck) 105. b. Olive, N. Y., 31 Dec., 1794.
233 Katy 106. b. Olive, N. Y., about 1796.
234 Stephen b. Olive, N. Y.; d, at 2 years.

Lemuel, with his brother James, removed from Dutchess county to Marbletown, Ulster county, 1772. "He was a farmer; had a grist-mill, a forge, a saw-mill and carding-machine." From these two brothers have descended a very numerous family, still strongly attached, for the greater part, to the familiar acres of their ancestors. 615 Dewitt C., says: "I can count 29 families by the name of Winchell" in Ulster Co., besides the females who have married into other families.

121 JAMES. Family 44.

Born on the "Great Nine Partners'" Patent, Dutchess Co., N. Y., 18 Mar, 1753; m. Mary Ferguson; d. Olive, 4 May, 1840. Mary was b. 29 Mar., 1761 and d. 17 June, 1839.

241 Rebecca 112. b. Olive, N. Y.
242 Elijah 113. b. Olive, N. Y., 1797.
243 John 114. b. Olive, N. Y., 27 Mar., 1800.
244 Martin b. Olive, N. Y.; m. Catherine Bush; lives at Olive, N. Y.

James removed from Dutchess county to Ulster in 1772, (or according to some accounts, "a few years" thereafter.) He was a soldier and non-commissioned officer in the war of the Revolution, and after vexatious delays, succeeded in securing his pension.

James' wife, Mary, was aunt to Bishow Elijah Hedding, whose mother, Ruth Ferguson, m. James Hedding, the bishop's father. Mary possessed some poetical talents; and composed "some verses" on occasion of the death of her son James, by drowning, in Æsopus creek.

122 JOHN. Family 45.

Born on the estate of the "Great Nine Partners," Dutchess county, N. Y.; m. Rachel Avery.

Accounts of John are conflicting. One says, "He was in the lumber business—acquired property worth $30,000, when he removed south, where he and all his family died." Rensselaer W. thinks the wife of a Mr. Ferguson at Peekskill is a dau. of John. 446 Kinner Hollister says, "John went on a raft of logs with his family from Baltimore. His dau. Roxana was drowned on the way. He went down the Mississippi river and came back about 300 miles and settled in Missouri. * * * He went south about the year 1805." Abram L. Winchell says, "John moved to the far west when I was a little boy, 50 years ago." 232 Vangosbeck writes: "He moved to Cincinnati, O., in 1806." The friends can take their choice from these statements.

123 REBECCA. Family 46.

124 Thomas, in 1749, received from his father, "for love and good will," as part of his portion, lands at Turkey Hills, valued at 800 pounds. (See Thomas 23.)

125 ELISHA. Family 48.

Born at Turkey Hills, Ct., 1728; m. Mary Thrall, Turkey Hills; d. (of cancer) Turkey Hills, 12 June, 1798. Farmer and Carpenter.

274 Elisha 122. b. Turkey Hills, 1754.

275 Grove 123. b. Turkey Hills.

276 Luke 124. b. Turkey Hills.

277 Eli 125. b. Turkey Hills, 20 May, 1767.

278 VIOLETTA b. Turkey Hills; m. Jesse Forward. Lived "in Black River country."

279 Jemima 126. b. Turkey Hills, 1769.

Lieut. Elisha was extensively engaged in business. Apr. 27, 1752, when but 24 years old, he purchased an interest in a grist and saw-mill. Apr. 18, 1755, he received from his father, "for love and good will," a farm of 43 acres, valued at 800 pounds. He continued to make purchases till May 29, 1787; when he sold 3 acres to his son Grove. He seems now to have retired from business. His house stood on the west side of the road leading from the village south toward Hartford, and about a mile and a half from the village. It stands close to the street and looks as if built for a country tavern. It is now renovated and painted white. The old red wood-shed still stands, as also the old barn, on the opposite side of the street. On one of the braces of the latter still remain the words, "Elisha Winchel, 1756."

Epitaph of 125 Elisha at Turkey Hills, (E. Granby): "In memory of Lieut. Winchell, he died 12 Jan., A. D. 1798, in the 70 year of his age.

"His virtues would a monument supply
"But underneath this stone his ashes lie."

On the foot-stone, "Lt. Elisha Winchell."

129 JUSTUS. Family 49.

(Founder of the Washington Sub-branch.)

Born on the manor of the "Great Nine Partners," Dutchess county, N. Y., 12 July, 1755; m Hannah Taylor, September, 1777; d. Wayne, Genesee county, N. Y., 27 Nov., 1823.

131 TIMOTHY. Family 50.

Born probably on the Great Nine Partners' manor, in the town of North East, Dutchess county, N. Y.; m. Esther ——; d. about 1814. Esther was b. 1758; d. North East, N. Y., 11 Apr., 1818.

292 POLLY T. (MARIA) b. 1791; d. North East, N. Y., 13 Dec., 1817. Was a seamstress. Is buried on Winchell mountain, North East.
293 SUSAN m.—— Griffin. Was living in Albany, N. Y., in 1830 or later, when she was visited by 301 Hon. Philo M. Winchell while in the legislature. About 1853, she visited at the house of 886 Col. John Winchell.
294 James 137. b. Dutchess county, N. Y.

131 Timothy's widow Esther lived about North East; she died "in the old Buttolph house, as also, probably the dau."

134 MARTIN. Family 51.

Born Turkey Hills, Ct., about 1739; m. Priscilla Cent; d. Granville, Mass.

295 Deborah 138. b.
296 Silas 139. b. Turkey Hills, Ct., 21 Oct., 1772.
297 PRISCILLA d. young.
298 Martin 140. b. about 1770.

134 Martin, being the oldest son, seems to have retained the homestead at Turkey Hills. The records show that he engaged in numerous transactions in real estate; but lack of space prevents the publication of abstracts. The last transaction recorded in the records of Windsor and Simsbury is under date of 31 Aug., 1782, when he sold to his brother Dan, for 800 pounds, four pieces of land in Windsor and Simsbury, amounting to 145 acres. Probably this sale was preparatory to removing to Granville, Mass., where he spent the remainder of his life. Walter Thrall, Esq., of Columbus, O., states that his house was still there in 1809. Martin is well and pleasantly remembered by some of the oldest citizens of E. Granby, with whom I have conversed—especially Mrs. Hannah Clark, (mother of Elmore Clark) who says Martin was a fat man and very humorous, and when he laughed his whole body was perceptibly shaken. Hence the children sometimes familiarly styled him "Shook." He used sometimes to visit his relatives in North East. 886 Col. John Winchell, who remembers these visits, says that Martin was fleshy and had a bald head, and presented somewhat the appearance of his uncle, 299 Dea. James Winchell. He is also remembered by my father.

135 JAMES. Family 52.

(Founder of Dutchess Sub-branch.)

Lieutenant James was born at Turkey Hills, Conn., 1741; m. Mary Mills near Turkey Hills; d. North East, N. Y., 13 Feb., 1778. Mary was b. 1743; d. North East, 11 March, 1785.

299 JAMES b. North East, N.Y., 5 Mar., 1763; m. Chloe Hartwell, (see Hartwell Genealogy, Appendix) 1785; d. North East, N. Y., 8 Apr., 1834. She was b. 13 Feb., 1764, and d. North East, 4 June, 1838. As 299 James had no ch., further notice of him is here introduced. On the partition of the paternal estate, (see Fam. 141) he settled, originally as a carpenter, in the valley east of Winchell mountain. On "Ten Mile Creek," which flowed past his residence—at first a simple framed dwelling; afterward enlarged to an elegant mansion—he constructed a large flouring mill, which he continued to run for many years in connection with his farming operations. Subsequently, for 18 years, he rented it to Alexander McAllister. By industry and good management, James accumulated a large estate which he expended liberally in the cause of education and of the church. His parents and all his ancestry had belonged to the Presbyterian or Congregational church. In 1773, however, the influence of the revival spirit inaugurated by Whitefield, resulted in the establishment of a Baptist society in North East; and in 1775, a chapel had been opened on a site which is now embraced in the south part of the burial-ground half a mile west of "Spencer's Corner." The children of

135 James became heartily identified with this church; and his son 299 James, for many years discharged the office of deacon in the church, and performed an active and important part in its affairs. In the enlargement of his private mansion in 1826–7, he fitted up a large room in the second story, where the society were in the habit of holding their meetings during the winter months. This was warmed by a stove. This old "Conference Room" is remembered with affection by many. In 1829 a new brick meeting house was completed at Spencer's Corner, costing about $4,700. "Toward this sum there was received from the society about $750, and from Dea. James Winchell $1,700." During the same year, through his influence and liberality a scholarship was raised and a room furnished for the Theological Seminary at Hamilton, N. Y. "His name is inscribed on the chapel walls of Madison University, in letters which, it is hoped, will not soon be effaced." "He lived a holy and useful life, and died in the full enjoyment of the christian's blissful hope, leaving his example a priceless legacy to society, and his real estate a bequest to the church for the support of her ministry." Among other acts of benevolence he adopted and educated his orphan niece, Mary Ann Winchell. His former dwelling house is now the property of Perry Vroman, and the mill belongs to other parties. A noble monument of white marble marks his resting place in the burial-ground near Spencer's Corner, and the following record is part of his epitaph: "His numerous bequests to the Baptist church and society in this place will long ensure to his memory their esteem and gratitude." The following is part of the epitaph of Chloe his wife: "Through life they walked with God, exhibiting that faith which works by love and purifies the heart. In death victorious through our Savior Jesus Christ."

135 James emigrated from Turkey Hills to North East, Dutch[illegible] N. Y., about 1760, a little before attaining his majority. His tw[illegible] 43 Stephen and 47 Robert had already been settled 12 or 15 years [illegible] county. His father, 48 Martin, is said to have aided him in eff[illegible] location. Whether from a love of mountain slopes and mounta[illegible] mits, imbibed from a residence upon the flanks of the "Turkey Hill mo[illegible] tain,"—called also the "copper mountain,"—or from a shrewd intuiti[illegible] of the extraordinary attractions of the soil and the situation, James and his father seem to have alighted upon a mountain farm which certainly must have appeared in their day infinitely less inviting than the industry of three generations has now made it. "Winchell mountain," so called from the family which has continued to possess and cultivate its surface, is one of the ridges of the Taconic range. The summit is a fertile plateau about half a mile in width. In the middle of this, on the highway from Salisbury to Rhinebeck, James erected his dwelling, the traces of which have been visible within my own memory. The prospect from this mountain summit is magnificent. I never return to it without renewed pleasure, and a deeper love of the spot. Toward the east, the blue hills of Sharon and Norfolk and Barkhamstead, in Connecticut, notch the horizon; while toward the west, the soft, purple domes of the distant Catskills rest against the sky; and Mount Marcy, seventy miles in the north west lifts its head like a watch-tower on the Cyclopean ramparts of the Hudson's valley. Even toward the north, the Taconic range, swelling, as it recedes, into mightier masses, culminates in the bald, granitic dome of Mt. Washington, which looks down upon three states. In the presence and under the influence of scenes like these, the family of James was reared.

James and his wife were exemplary members of the Presbyterian church in North East; and James "took an active part in the measures which resulted in the independence of the states; and was one of the principal supporters of the cause of Liberty in the town and county where he resided." His death was caused, at the early age of 39, by camp fever taken from a suffering soldier whom he quartered one night in his house.

Mary Mills, James' wife, was a woman of extraordinary worth. She possessed remarkable strength of mind; great refinement of taste; excellent tact in the management of household affairs, and a sincerely Christian heart. Surviving her husband seven years, she manifested remarkable endowments in the management of the farm and the education of her children.

Mary Mills was of Dutch descent, being the daughter of Ebenezer Mills, a graduate of Yale College and a Presbyterian minister at Turkey Hills, afterward at Sandisfield, Mass. Ebenezer Mills, b. 1712, was a son of Peter Mills, (b. 1668—d. 1756) who, though himself a tailor, educated four of his seven sons at Yale College. Peter was a son of Sir Peter Walter Van der Muelen, who came to America some time before 1668, and settled in E. Windsor. He changed his name to Mills, which is the English of Muelen. (For Mills Genealogy, see App.)

James Winchell and his wife are buried in the public cemetery "on the mountain," within a few rods of his home while living. Here are their epitaphs:

"In memory of Lieut. James Winchell, who departed this life 13 Feb., 1778, in the 39th year of his age."

"Jesus has sweetened this repose
"And took away the fatal sting,
"Stands ready to receive all those
"That will prepare to follow him."

"In memory of Mrs. Mary, wife to Lieut. James Winchell. She died March 11, 1785. Æt. 41.

"Let worms devour my wasting flesh
"And crumble all my bones to dust,
"My God will raise my frame afresh
"At the revival of the just."

136 Nathanael's house at Turkey Hills was on the west side of the Bloomfield road, about a quarter of a mile south of the intersection of the Windsor road. In 1867 the site was a tobacco field, with no trace of the house or its appurtenances remaining, save a slight depression where the well used to be. The old barn stands close to the road, on the opposite and lower hill side.

Nathanael, between 1768 and 1786 made eight distinct purchases of real estate at Turkey Hills, of which I find records at Windsor and Simsbury. The total amount paid was 584 pounds. Sept. 23, 1771, he purchased "a mansion house," which was perhaps the one above referred to. He probably removed, not long after the beginning of 1786, to Vermont.

Nathanael was Ensign in the Revolutionary army, and was present at the execution of André. He is said to have been subject to fits of nervous melancholy. The following is the epitaph of his first wife, from the cemetery at Turkey Hills; "Elizabeth, wife of Ensign Nathanael Winchell, died 20 Feb., 1775, aged 20." The stone stands erect. On the foot-stone are the initials "N. W."

Jan. 10, 1774, Dan bought land in Windsor, bordering on Simsbury. Aug. 31, 1782, he bought of his brother Martin, for 800 pounds, 144 acres in Windsor and Simsbury. Apr. 1, 1783, he bought, in company with Nathanael, (both of Simsbury*) several parcels of land in Turkey Hills for 295 pounds; Mar. 19, 1784, sold the land bought of Martin, for 700 pounds; Dec. 14, 1785, made an exchange with Nathanael, and at the same time bought 7 acres of Joel Clark. May 10, 1790, he sold 11 acres in Windsor for 15 pounds. July 27, 1791, his residence was Granville, Hampshire county, Mass., when he sold Oliver Winchell 17½ acres in Granby, (Turkey Hills) for 17 pounds. His brother Martin had preceded him at Granville by about 8 years. From Granville he removed to W. Rutland, Vt., and, about 1805, to Pomfret.

Dan used to visit his relatives at North East, Dutchess county, N.Y., and he is remembered by 877 Horace and 886 John as "a somewhat portly man with gray eyes and chestnut hair, jovial, fond of story-telling and very social."

Josiah Besemer and had Martin Besemer, who m. Mary Wolcott. Joanna d. about 1850, when Besemer m. again, and lives at Motts Corners, Tompkins Co., N. Y.

Abraham received a liberal education at Yale and Harvard Colleges, and subsequently studied law three years under Gen. James Talmadge of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He settled in his native town, but seems not to have made any great efforts to secure a large practice. He was remarkably well read in law, however, and would have made an excellent judge. He possessed a calm, judicial mind, regulated at all times by the keenest sense of justice and the purest principles of morality. He possessed remarkable elegance and fluency of diction. Few men wielded a more facile or a more graceful pen. His neighbors freely appealed to him to resolve all their legal doubts. He served them as justice of the peace and as school inspector. He seconded all educational enterprises, and never omitted the opportunity to encourage a young man aspiring for knowledge. His letters from Yale College to his brother Horace, in 1815–16–17, are model expressions of fraternal solicitude and counsel. The writer is indebted to him for some early impulses, and remembers his encouraging words with gratitude to his memory. He always calculated that his nephew would secure a liberal education, but mistakenly allotted him to the profession of law. For some years before removing west he occupied the farm that had belonged to Deacon James Winchell; and inherited from him the care of his niece Mary Ann. In Dryden, he settled on a farm. At his death he bequeathed to the writer "all his Latin, Greek and French books." Personally, Abraham was tall, with rather spare features, a high forehead, and an eye beneath whose habitual languor slumbered flashes of fire. In matters of faith he held to "open communion" and unitarianism, and rejected the doctrine of "election and reprobation."

885 Sally Emeline 296. b. North East, 29 Apr., 1815.

Clarasa, Clarace or Clarissa Hartwell, was dau. of Maj. Abraham

Hartwell of North East, who was son of Peter Hartwell from England, who came to Hebron, Conn., about 1740. Abraham Hartwell settled in 1766 at "the old Hartwell place," on the brow of the hill, two-thirds of a mile west of Spencer's Corner, (settled in 1746) and half a mile east of the "old Lawrence place," (settled in 1767.) The "Hartwell place" passed into the hands of Lucius Hotchkiss about 1826 or 7, and was bought by Alexander McAllister, about 1835, who repaired and improved it, and, after occupying it till about 1841, sold to Orville Dakin. A crowd of personal recollections clusters around the spot; but in 1867, one hundred and one years after settlement, the very site was a wheat field, nothing but the old well remaining to mark the spot.

Col. M. E. Winchell's wife is remembered as a woman of great mental and bodily vigor, even to the time of her death. For some time, Col. Martin E. kept a house of entertainment for travellers; and it is said that strangers often mistook his wife for one of the daughters.

Martin E., on the premature death of his father, 135 James, was left with his brothers, 299 James and 301 Philo M., upon an estate which proved to be heavily encumbered with an obligation growing out of an endorsement by their father. These three boys, having taken counsel together, resolved to devote themselves to the work of rescuing the homestead from impending sacrifice. Never did young men labor with their own hands, more industriously or more resolutely. Encouraged and counseled by their most excellent mother, they had the satisfaction of seeing the debt steadily diminish; and in good time, the old homestead was their own. James, the eldest, had left the firm, as a carpenter, and settled in the valley, adjoining Esq. Martin Lawrence. Aaron Ely, the youngest, who had been a sort of ward of his older brothers, had settled as a merchant at Pine Plains. Martin E. and Philo M. continued to work the farm in partnership for many years, until they had come into unencumbered possession of about 600 acres. Finally 302 John and 876 Abraham were called upon to make a division of the estate in behalf of the joint owners. This was effected by lot. Martin E. drew the half which embraced the original buildings, and Philo M. received the eastern portion of the farm. These two brothers—as also James and Aaron E.—erected each a fine large two story dwelling house. These buildings were for sixty years unsurpassed in style and elegance by any structures of later erection in their respective neighborhoods.

Martin E. was a man of strong intelligence, and great dignity and composure of manners, exercising a cool and mature judgment and securing for himself the respect and confidence of a large neighborhood. He was remarkably kind to the poor, insomuch that this trait is mentioned in his epitaph, He was a warm adherent and supporter of the Baptist church of North East. The "Centennial Church Book" says of him: "He was baptized in 1786, and consecrating himself to Christ, he brought his natural ardor of temperament, and great energy of mind into active employment in the service of Christianity. He was very gifted in prayer and exhortation, and often spoke with a wisdom which few could resist. It was his honor, likewise, to be a pillar in the church, and to occupy an elevated position in society. At an early period he recognized the claims of ministerial education, and gave to his son, the Rev. James M. Winchell, advantages which he employed to the best account. * * * His memory is still fresh and grateful." He was colonel of militia, and represented his assembly district in the legislature in 1826, and again in 1827. A portrait of him exists in the possession of his youngest daughter, Mrs. Milan Brown, Millerton, Dutchess Co., N. Y.

301 PHILO MILLS. Family 142.

891 Caroline 302. b. North East, 2 Apr., 1804.

301 Philo M. m 2d, —— Albany, N. Y., 1831.

The traits of character exemplified by Philo M. and his brothers in clearing their paternal inheritance from incumbrance, have already been mentioned under 300 Martin E. The discipline acquired, and the habits formed during this struggle, laid the foundation of subsequent prosperity and wealth. From the biography of Philo M., written by 876 Abraham, I make a few extracts. He united with the Baptist church in North East in 1786, and soon took rank among the most promising members. The prominent traits of his character were "enterprise, decision, activity, perseverance, quick discernment and sound judgment." In 1829 he was chosen to the legislature of the state, and proved himself a competent and useful member. As a man, his reputation was unsullied; as a christian, he was loved and revered; as a church member, his character for consistency, piety and zeal, was deservedly high; and as a citizen, he was greatly respected and honored. Long had he been among the pillars of the church, bearing his full share of responsibility, and discharging promptly his obligations. As might be expected, his death caused a profound melancholy in the church and in community.

Of his wife it has been written that "in her was strikingly exemplified all the qualities of a good wife and mother."

302 JOHN. Family 143.

Born North East, N. Y.; m. —— Hopkins?; d. New York, aged 23. A Baptist minister in North East and New York city.

893 Mary Taber 303. b. New York City, 29 Nov., 1790.

894 Sarah Ann 304. b. New York?

302 John was the fourth Baptist minister over the church in North East. "He itinerated quite extensively, and his labors were crowned with great success. He was instrumental in raising up several churches, among which may be mentioned the church in Sandisfield, Mass., and the First Baptist church in Hartford, Ct. He was for some time minister of a church in New York city." "He was a pathetic and stirring preacher. While at New York, during the American Revolution, he was called to preach to the soldiers, and there was a great reformation under his preaching." He embraced the doctrine of "open communion."

After his death, his widow married a Spencer, from Vermont, and had 1st, John Winchell Spencer, now of Rock Island, Ill. (late Judge); 2d, William Anson Spencer, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; 3d, Julia Spencer, who m. Jonah Case.

305 Aaron Ely, on the partition of his father's estate, settled at Pine Plains, Dutchess Co., N. Y., where he engaged in mercantile business, and enjoyed great prosperity for many years. He was for a long time reputed the wealthiest man in the place. Like his older brothers, he possessed a very respectable endowment of the gift of public speaking. The writer distinctly remembers, when attending the burial of 299 James, in 1834, the earth had been thrown in the grave, the friends were crowded around, and Aaron E. suddenly stood forth, and raising his hand, addressed the crowd. He alluded to the impressive circumstance that he now was the only one surviving of a large family of brothers; and continued, for a few minutes, in a strain of remark which thrilled the hearts of his listeners. He survived 14 yrs., when his own funeral was attended at Pine Plains.

1376 Emeline Field b. Milton Center, Saratoga Co., N. Y., 19 Jan., 1839; d. 2 Mar., 1839.

545 Thomas Jefferson was the celebrated humorist. From his mother he seems to have inherited that unequaled gift of drollery and caricature which gave him a national reputation; while the delicacy and propriety of sentiment, and the fine poetic genius which always embellished his representations, and commended them to people of taste and education, seem to have been the gift of his father. From a child, he manifested a marvelous power of mimicry, and an impressible propensity to "take off" suitable subjects for satire. Even while undergoing corporeal punishment for his fun making, he would set the whole school in a roar by his off hand caricatures of the master.

On the fourth of July, 1824, he clandestinely left the parental roof, taking one of his father's negro boys with him. Though intercepted, after a few days, by his father, he escaped the second time, after being accompanied by him to New York; and took up his residence, for several years, in Newark, N. J. In the fall of 1829 he journeyed as far as Schenectady, N. Y., where he resided several years, got married and endeavored unsuccessfully to stifle his Hogarthian propensity. He commenced his public career in Dec., 1835, under the management of the talented William Duffy. His artistically accurate "living portraits" soon made him a favorite; and he was afterwards eagerly caught up by Henry Meech, the proprietor of the then very popular Albany Museum where his oddities were laughed at by the more sober and sedate, who seldom went to the theatres. Here he won a complete success.

In 1838 he made a visit to Buffalo, and gave numerous exhibitions in what was then known as "Hart's Garden." During the same season the now famous P. T. Parnum was humbly traveling with a master Dimond, then somewhat celebrated as a "negro dancer;" and it is stated that Barnum accounted it "a favor to be allowed to let his boy Dimond hitch teams with Winchell at Hart's Garden, and take a moderate share of the proceeds."

In personal appearance he was prepossessing; being of herculean frame, nearly six feet high, well proportioned, and of great muscular strength. His powers of imitation were most remarkable—or rather his powers of transformation—as he could, in an instant, so change his whole face in form and feature as to be utterly unrecognizable, except by his intimate acquaintances. To such an extent had this extraordinary power of transformation and imitation been carried, that he actually sat for the likeness of several of his intimate friends, at various places and times; and the "counterfeit presentment" has been recognized as the genuine.

His power of changing the color of his countenance by mere muscular exertion, from death-like pallor to rosy red was very remarkable. He could with equal ease assume the juvenility of sixteen or the decrepitude of sixty. He could imitate a music box, giving the several parts, and sustaining the tone, unbroken by inspiration, for nearly three minutes. In athletic sports he always stood foremost.

Innumerable anecdotes are told of his achievments in the way of ventriloquism; and his rich jokes and ludicrous comparisons have furnished abundant staple for newspaper paragraphs.

His benevolence was equal to his humor. Many a friendless sufferer still remembers his acts of charity or of kindness. On one occasion, as he was passing through the audience gathered at one of his soirees, a poor widow whom he had helped, was heard to remark, "here comes a man whose heart is as big as himself." His last public performance was an offering to humanity and his country. He had been performing about two weeks at Lafayette, Ind., in Feb., 1863; and though feeling unwell, gave his final entertainment, at Spencer Hall, for the benefit of the Soldiers' Aid Society. He was now prostrated by an attack of erysipelas, which, determining to the head, speedily reached a fatal conclusion.

Thus passed away a most excellent humorist who had been before the public for a period of thirty years,

"A fellow of infinite jest, of most excellent fancy."

His remains are interred at Jackson, Mich., by the side of those of his wife.

1595 Homer Howard 444. b. W. Springfield, 9 May, 1828.

1596 Joseph Rice 445. b. W. Springfield, 18 Apr., 1831.

753 Col. Elias was a merchant and postmaster at West Springfield till 1836, when the commercial crash ruined him financially. So gathering up his family of seven children, he turned his back upon the luxuries of his New England home, and plunged into the almost unbroken solitudes of the great west. In June 1837, he arrived with his family, at Quincy, Ill. The next spring he settled on a tract of wild land in Shelby county, Mo., 23 miles west of Palmyra. Here a farm was opened; by industry and good judgment field was added to field; flocks and herds were gathered; orchards began to spring up, and the comforts of New England were transplanted in the wilderness. Meantime another business—land agency—began to outstrip the farming interest, and in 1853, he removed to Palmyra. Returning in 1856, for the first time, to New England, he died in Boston, at the residence of one of his sons.

Though making no profession of religion till the age of 55 years, his life was most exemplary and Christian-like. His children received regular biblical instruction on the Sabbath, and he was himself most punctual in his attendance at church.

The character of his wife seems to have been singularly lovely. She inspired the deepest affection in the hearts of her children. One of them in speaking of her says, "She was a gem." She possessed marked intellectuality; and, in her earlier years, was quite familiar with the prominent authors—especially the poets, from whom she often quoted freely. She always kept herself well informed in regard to the state of the country; and was able to converse upon the subject in the most intelligent manner. After removal to Missouri, the entire education of her youngest son devolved upon her; and in the midst of multiplied and onerous duties, she imparted to him an education unsurpassed by that of any of his older brothers. She died with the blessings of all her acquaintances resting upon her. Seldom has the memory of the departed been so fondly cherished by so large a circle of relatives and Christian friends.

1605 James Manning 446. b. Avon, N. Y., 4 Feb., 1824.

754 Rev. Reuben H., while living in Whateley, was a merchant; but at the close of the war of 1812 he failed. Being of a religious temper, he had believed himself called upon to be a minister of the gospel, but first entered upon the profession of teaching, at Jersey City.

The climate not agreeing with his wife's health, he removed to Hamilton, N. Y., and entered the Theological Seminary. After leaving it, he settled at Avon, N. Y., whence, in 1825, he removed to Lockport, N. Y. Soon after, he joined the Masonic order, but during the Morgan excitement publicly renounced it, thereby making bitter enemies, whose persecutions followed him for many years. Receiving a call from Wethersfield, Conn., he settled there, in 1828, and remained one year, when he felt impelled to return to Lockport, where he had bought 100 acres of wild land, and where he desired to meet many slanderous reports set afloat by his enemies. While living on his farm here, he traveled as a Sunday-school agent, organizing societies and churches in that region, including a portion of Canada. In 1831 he emigrated to Kalamazoo, Mich.—going in the winter with his family, by land, from Queenston by way of Detroit. The ague and the Indian war limited the residence to one summer, and he returned to Lockport in the fall. In the autumn of 1833, he became pastor of the church in Tully, N. Y., remaining a year and a half; when he yielded to the earnest request of the society at Queenston, Canada, and settled there. His throat, however, becoming affected by public speaking, he resolved to abandon it; and settling his family on his farm at Lockport, he engaged as a financial traveling agent for the American Baptist Home Missionary Society, continuing in their employ as long as his health permitted—probably ti ll 1842 He now resided on his farm at Lockport, till 1848 or 1849, when he removed to Tully, where he died. He was a most laborious and conscien. tious clergyman—his forte being conciliation and organization. Nearly all his churches he found distracted by feuds, and demoralized; he always left them united and vigorous, and apparently much averse to his departure.

Col. Shalor W. Eldridge removed from Mass., to Kansas City, Mo., Jan., 1855. He was for some time proprietor of the "American Hotel" there. In the spring of 1856 he purchased the hotel known as the "Free State," in Lawrence, but it was destroyed the day before it was to be opened, 21 May, 1856. In the spring of 1857, he built upon the same spot a much larger and better hotel. For some time it was the largest west of St. Louis. It was destroyed at the time of the "Lawrence Massacre," 21 Aug., 1863. He rebuilt it again in 1865, and it is still standing, though he does not own it. In 1868 he erected a large hotel in Kansas City, Mo., which his brother Thomas now owns. Col. Shalor and his brother Edwin are now in the coal business in Missouri.

His wife Mary seems to have been endowed with rare gifts. She is spoken of as one of the most earnest and active citizens of Lawrence during the troublous times of border strife. In her the poor and needy ever had a friend. She was a most devoted friend to the colored race.

866 Austa Malinda was educated in the school of Mary Lyon, Ipswich, Mass., which she left in 1832; and has since "led a thronged and ardent life." Her husband is spoken of (Silliman's Journal) as the founder of Marietta College, O. He was prevented, by failure of the eyes, from finishing his theological course at Gambier. He founded the Episcopal Seminary at Gambier, and held the presidency two years. He then felt impelled to enter the ministry of the M. E. Church; and, after traveling some years, was appointed to the presidency of the Preparatory Department of the Ohio Wesleyan University, at Delaware, Ohio. Pending his entrance on the duties of the position, he preached at Chesterville; and his wife had the care of a Seminary there, in which she met with great success in her religious efforts. After this, he raised means to found the Biblical Professorship at Delaware; and then became President of Xenia Female College; and subsequently one of the founders of Wilberforce University. Meantime he and his wife assumed the editorship of "The Beauty of Holiness," which they removed to New York City, and conducted with exceeding success, till the breaking out of the late war. Mr. French then enlisted as a Chaplain in the Regular Army. His field of labor was South Carolina. He became deeply interested in the measures which led to the establishment of the Freedmen's Bureau; and has been an intimate coöperator with Gen. O. O. Howard, in securing the requisite legislation, and in the management of the affairs of the Bureau.

Mrs. French speaks of their busy and earnest life as "one long sacrifice, though a joyful one, by grace."

Rev. Isaac Allerton was ordained over the Baptist Church in North East, 28 June 1809, and remained in charge six years. He "was a man of strong mind and indomitable purpose. His pulpit efforts were able."

875 JAMES MANNING. Family 290.

Born North East, Dutchess Co., N. Y., 8 Sep., 1891; m. Tamma Thompson, dau. of Asa Thompson, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 21 June, 1814; d. Boston, Mass., 22 Feb., 1820. She was b. 1798; d. North East, 15 June, 1820. Pastor of First Baptist Church, Boston.

1746 Sarah C. 474. b. Boston Mass., 15 Apr., 1815.

1747 Mary Ann 475. b. Boston, Mass., 11 Mar., (1746 Sarah C. says, 8 Feb.) 1815.

1748 LOUISA TAMMA b. Boston, Mass., 17 Dec., 1818; m. Thomas Dudley Sterling, Buffalo, N. Y., 18 June, 1846; d. Troy, N. Y., 6 Aug., 1866. She was educated by her uncle and aunt (Family 288) She was a vivacious and accomplished woman; possessing strong intelligence and a refined organization. Untoward circumstances blighted an existence bright with promise.

875 James Manning was prepared for College at Sharon, Ct., in 1806–8, under Rev. Daniel Parker. He entered Union College in 1808, and remained three years; but preferring to graduate at an institution patronized by his own Church, he entered Brown University, and graduated in 1812. Oct. 4th of the same year he was licensed to preach, by the Baptist Church in North East; and in June, 1813, was ordained, at Bristol, R. I. March 14th, 1814, he was installed pastor over the First Baptist Church in Boston, where he occupied the difficult position of successor to the great Dr. Skillman. Here he remained to the early close of his active and useful life. On the 17th of July, 1819, he visited Beverly in his usual health, and the next day preached three sermons; but was immediately taken unwell, and never preached afterwards. He suffered from bleeding of the lungs. His funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Baldwin, of Boston. Dr. Wayland, also, if my memory serves me, preached a funeral sermon from the text, "He was a burning and a shining light," which has been published.

As a preacher Dr. Rufus Babcock compares him with Summerfield. "In person rather below the medium size, his youthful vivacity was finely tempered by a dignified Christian urbanity. His elocution was distinct, impressive and most winning Well can I conceive how his associates, Dr. Baldwin and Dr. Sharp, should each have exclaimed at his death: 'I am distressed for thee my brother; very dear hast thou been to me; thy love was wonderful.'"

He was, at the time of his death, joint editor, with Drs. Baldwin and Sharp, of the American Baptist Magazine, which announced his death in March, 1820. He was also the editor of an edition of Watts' hymns, which was generally used by the Baptist churches in America under the title of "Winchell's Watts," until within a recent period. He excelled as a musician; and published a work on sacred harmony. He was also the author of "Two Discourses exhibiting a Historical Sketch of the First Baptist Church in Boston, 1819," to which reference has before been made. He was regarded as destined to the presidency of Brown University.

The fragrance of his name lingers not only in the affections of his surviving relatives, but in the memory of many survivors in the villages of eastern Massachusetts, to whom he ministered occasionally during the six laborious years of his residence in Boston. (See Sprague's "Annals of the American Pulpit," vol. iv, p. 595.)

1755 Samuel Robertson b. North East, 26 Nov., 1843. Member of the Senior Class of the University of Michigan in the Classical Course; one of the editors of "The Chronicle," a University periodical; Principal of the High School, Ann Arbor, Mich.; formerly Principal of the Paw Paw, (Mich.) Union School, and of the Flint Union School, and teacher in various positions; actively connected with church choirs, musical enterprises, Sunday-shools, and Bible-Classes.

1756 Charles McAllister b. North East N. Y., 18 Dec., 1845. Member of the Freshman Class of the University of Michigan, in the Course of Civil Engineering (with Latin added). A teacher of considerable experience and a traveler in "the far west."

877 Horace, though inheriting a competency from his father, has shown a life-long contempt of secular possessions, and devoted himself, with unabated zeal, to labor in the cause of humanity and ecclesiastical reform. Destined by his father for a collegiate education, he completed the preparatory course at a somewhat famous classical school, conducted by the Rev. Daniel Parker, at Ellsworth, in the town of Sharon, Conn.; but becoming dissatisfied with certain tenents and practices of the Baptist Church to which he had belonged, from the age of twelve, he became absorbed in the effort to correct reforms within his church; and finding this impracticable, he set himself to his life long endeavor to reform the ecclsiastical world at large. He has labored by personal appeal, by public addresses and by printed works. The chief positions which he has always maintained are the following: 1. The sinfulness of sectarianism, and especially the practice of close communion; 2. The duty of non-resistance, even in courts of law; 3. The sin of slavery; 4. The absurdity of the trinitarian doctrine. 5. The right of confuting the minister in the pulpit. Incidentally he has taught also the doctrine of the annihilation of the wicked, and the literal reign of Christ during the millennium; and, more recently, has insisted upon the imminent consummation of the prophetic periods, and the near approach of the end of the world. His first work, of 112 pages, was published as early as 1827, and was entitled "The Uniting of all Christians." In this he pleads for the breaking down of the barriers between the sects; for the arbitration of national disputes, without resort to war, and the abolition of the system of slavery. Every one conversant with the progress of modern events, must perceive that he was one of the very foremost to put forward three great moral ideas, whose agitation has characterized the age in which we live. In 1836 he published a pamphlet entitled "A Plea for Reform"; and in 1839, a "Sequel" to this. Other pamphlets have followed in rapid succession, until, at present, no less than 20 considerable publications have emanated from his pen. His style is characterized by great simplicity, unreserve and copiousness of scriptural and historical quotations. It is doubtful whether a man has lived in modern times, more familiar than he with the Sacred Scriptures. His power of quotation is amazing. He seems to see every verse in the Bible at a glance; and those correlated with each other rush at his bidding into juxtaposition. He is still as earnest, as vigorous and as laborious as ever. Physically, though light and under six feet in height, he possesses still the elasticity and sinewy toughness which always gave him exceptional agility, strength and endurance.

When younger he was an excellent musician and leader of choirs. He was also a natural mathematician and succeeded admirably as a teacher. He possessed great mechanical ingenuity, and twenty years ago, invented a mowing machine. His wife was also a singer of extraordinary power and sweetness, and used to "drive dull care away" from the house with perpetual song. She was also an esteemed school-teacher. Both have devoted themselves assiduously to the education and moral and religious culture of their large family of children.

He was strongly attached to his family, and greatly afflicted at the frequent deaths of his children. The monument which marks the place of the remains of Sarah and Emily, bears the following inscriptions:

[SARAH'S WORDS]

Short was our passage to the grave;
Yet not in those cold vaults we dwell;
We rose with Him who died to save,
And all, dear parents, all is well.

[EMILY'S WORDS]

In those bright mansions of the blest
Where never dying anthems swell,
Sweetly in Jesus' arms we rest.
Then, till you join us there, farewell.

[THE PARENTS' RESPONSE]

Fondly the parent weepeth o'er the urn
Of infant ashes; yet with Christ ye dwell;
And to his throne our anxious eyes we turn.
Then, till again we greet you there, farewell.

He has: Samuel Randall, 2 Aug., 1863; John Winchell, 16 July, 1867, d. 17 July, 1867.

1859 Osceola Jackson m. 2d Abby Jane Porter, Portland, 25 Mar., 1869, who was b. Sebago, Me., 7 July, 1851.

Osceola Jackson obtained most of his early education in Providence, R. I. He possessed a strong inclination for a seafaring life, but yielded to the solicitations of his friends, and entered Bowdoin College, in 1854. Here, after enjoying a full share of college honors, he graduated in 1858. Three or four weeks thereafter, he shipped as "boy before the mast," in the ship D. L. Choate. Getting to sea after some mishaps and detentions, his ship proceeded to Liverpool, returning in March, 1859. In two or three months he shipped as "supercargo" on the brig Lydia Francis, bound for Fernando Po, and west coast of Africa, expecting to be absent six months. He was however detained at Gaboon river, two and a half years, till Sep., 1861. Returning home, he re-shipped in a few weeks, as "supercargo" in the bark Greyhound, bound also for the west of Africa. This voyage was completed 11 Sep., 1862, when he was married. In a few weeks, he set sail again, in the schooner Caspian, accompanied by his wife, to the coast of Africa. Leaving the schooner at Fernando Po, the Spanish authorities invited them to Cadiz on a Government Steamer. From Cadiz they proceeded to London and Liverpool, and thence to Quebec and Brunswick. Since this voyage he has been in business, principally in Portland. This is a sketch of his outer life. Like many others, he has lived simultaneously a profound inner life, which my restricted limits, and sentiments of sacred respect equally forbid me to describe.

Hon. Samuel Randall Jackson 321 removed from Canterbury, N. H., to Topsham, Me., when eleven years of age, and "kept store" for Geo. T. Richardson, till of age. He then removed to Providence and had charge of the Providence and Worcester canal a few years. Spending some years in Worcester, he removed again to Providence and engaged in the coal business (Jackson and Clark) until 1850, when he went to California. In 1852 he returned to Topsham, Me., whither his family had removed. In a year or two he moved across the river to Brunswick, bought a place and "settled down." He has been member of the legislature a number of times—is President of the First National Bank, Brunswick, and also of a large paper mill company. In matters of faith he is described as an "abolitionist; against capital punishment; for women's rights; a former member of the Methodist church, but in his later years discarding the dogmas of total depravity and endless punishment; careful to hurt no man's feelings. but most boldly outspoken to any one in any matter of right and wrong." His wife is spoken of by their children in terms of the tenderest respect; but I must observe a self-imposed rule, to abstain from eulogy of the living. Both, as the sunset of their lives approaches, seem to be looking more and more earnestly and reasonably toward the future life.

1891 ALICE b. 13 June, 1848. With her parents.

1037 Amaziah's earliest recollection is of the burning of the barracks at Plattsburg, by the British, in 1813; the next, of the severe winter of 1815–16, when his only clothing consisted of a woolen shirt, while his father lived at Ticonderoga in a poor log house. When his father removed to Shoreham, Vt., Amaziah worked among the farmers for 12½ cents a day. At 17, he was bound out; at 21, he received $50 and his father $60, for his services. He had also had six mos. schooling. After marriage, came to Mich., settling at Lima, Washtenaw Co. Was in the "Toledo War," enjoying the rank of 1st Sergeant in the Washtenaw Regt. Sold out and bought in Livingston Co., where Pinckney now stands. Sold his last purchase and bought a farm where he now resides, in 1838. Farm now consists of 200 acres—150 improved, with good buildings and unencumbered. Has held the office of High Sheriff in Ingham Co., four years; was representative in the legislature in 1849–50, and has held some town office most of the time for 25 yrs. Is now serving second term as Supt. of the Poor of the county. He helped raise the first four shanties for white settlers, in Ingham Co. Was in Vt. in June, 1867, and saw the field where he picked up wheat, head by head, after the reapers, to buy the first hat he ever had; saw the old shoe-shop where were made the first shoes he ever had, though 13 years old. Was on board the "Meteor" when she collided with the Pewabic, 9 Aug., 1865.

1126 Alvin lived with his father in Chatham, Columbia Co., N. Y., until 19 years of age, when he went to Susquehanna Co., Pa., and thence, it would seem, to Broome Co., N. Y. June 15, 1834, he left Broome Co., and arrived, Sept. 16, 1835, in Dubuque, Iowa. He was one of the first settlers of that place. After two years, he removed from Dubuque to a farm 25 miles distant, with the view of rendering the assistance of his large family more available. This region was then an almost unbroken wilderness; and the children were necessarily deprived of many educational and social privileges. They were, however, trained by faithful parents, in habits of honesty and industry. After ten years, the care of this family was devolved upon the widow, who most nobly discharged her important trust.

1591 Rensselær, removing to the wilderness of Mo. with his father, in 1837–8, spent some time in clearing up the land, but, becoming convinced of his duty to enter the ministry, he commenced preparation for college. Wholly self-taught, he entered Marion College, Mo., with superior preparation, but, after one year, removed to Illinois College, at Jacksonville, where he graduated as valedictorian, 25 June, 1845. Spending two years in the Theological Seminary at Andover, Mass., he was called to serve his Alma Mater as Tutor in Greek and Latin—occupying the position of a professor. Here his health began to give way under too severe mental labor, and his last year at Andover was spent under less favorable circumstances than his first. He graduated there, however, 5 Sept., 1849. For five years he struggled with failing health, in the labors of the ministry, preaching at Tully, Mo., in 1850, and in southern Iowa, in 1852; but finally was compelled to desist. He left Iowa in Nov., 1853, and has since resided in Boston, seeking such employment as would best comport with his feeble health. His wife, married in Ill., was one of "Gov. Slade's Teachers," so called. His estimation of her is shown from the fact that he considers the following passage, struck upon in a trial of the "Virgilian Sortes," in his first year at college, as providentially pointing her out:

> Ad terram Hesperiam venies, ubi Lydius arva
> Inter opima virûm leni fluit agmine Tybris.
> Illic res lætæ, regnumque, et regia conjux
> Parta tibi. [Æneid II.: 731–4.]

2410 Mary Paulina b. Hannibal, Mo., 16 May, 1865.
2411 Joseph Lafon b. Hannibal, 29 May, 1868.

1596 Joseph Rice emigrated with his parents in 1837 to Quincy, Ill., and in Apr., 1838, to Shelby Co., Mo.; remained working a farm until 1850, when he entered the printing office of Jacob Losey, Palmyra, Mo., and learned the business in the brief space of two years, "graduating" in 1852. Returning to the farm, he remained until the spring of 1853, when he went to Jacksonville, Ill., and worked as journeyman till Oct., 1853. Health failing, returned to Palmyra and entered his father's Real Estate office. On the death of his father, in 1856, assumed the entire management of the "North Missouri Land Agency," which still remains under his charge. In 1860, bought a half interest in the Palmyra Courier—assuming the editorial management. In 1861, bought the other half interest, and continued the publication of the paper—thoroughly loyal, and true to the Union—till Feb., 1863, when the Courier was united with the Hannibal Messenger, and assumed the name of the "North Missouri Courier." At that time he removed to Hannibal, where he has since resided. Continues to publish the Daily and Weekly Courier, which is increasing in circulation and influence; and as a Republican paper, ranks next, in the state, to the St. Louis Democrat. Name of firm, "Winchell, Ebert and Marsh." The business of the firm is represented as steadily increasing in all its departments. It doubled in 1868.

1605 JAMES MANNING. Family 446.

Born Avon, Livingston Co., N. Y., 4 Feb., 1824; m. Elizabeth Earll, Syracuse, N Y., Jan. 1, 1851, dau. of Hon. N. H. Earll, Syracuse. She was b. Onondaga Hill, N. Y., 16 Dec., 1829. Teacher, journalist, public man and farmer. Resides Hyde Park, Dutchess Co., N. Y.

2412 Clarence Earll b. Syracuse, 5 Aug., 1852; d. New York, 1 Apr., 1854.

1605 James M. shared the fortunes and vicissitudes of his father's family until 1843. (See Family 259.) In the autumn of that year he left his home, in Lockport, N. Y., and the following winter taught a small district school in the town of Fabius. The following summer was spent in "seeing the world" within a circumscribed area including New York city. Another year was then devoted to hard work on the old homestead. In the winter of 1845–6 he taught a district school at Fayetteville, Onondaga Co. In the spring of 1846, purposing to become a professional teacher, he entered the State Normal School at Albany—being appointed a pupil from Onondaga Co. Here, from want of pecuniary means, he remained only during the summer. In the fall, he took the Union School in the village of Jamestown, Onondaga Co., but abruptly closed it, about Christmas, in consequence of displeasure at attempted interferences of some of the citizens. Within a week he accepted the Second Department of Public School, No. 7, in Syracuse—the largest in the place. The summer of 1847 was spent in a trip through Ohio and northern Kentucky. In the autumn he re-entered the Normal School, and in the spring of 1848, graduated with the valedictory, the highest honor of his class. He spent the following year as Principal of Public School, No. 10, in the city of Syracuse; but dissentions arising between the Commissioners and citizens on questions of "orthodoxy," he, and several other teachers of the first reputation, withdrew from their schools. With two of these he had previously been associated in a temporary connection with a daily newspaper, the "Syracuse Reveille"—now the "Standard"—and they commenced the publication of a weekly literary and news journal called the "Literary Union." This periodical, afterwards changed to a magazine, was continued about a year and a half. During part of this time he taught the Union School of Geddes, and then engaged as agent for D. Appleton & Co., N. Y. After a year of this occupation, finding his naturally delicate health impaired by sedentary labors, he yielded again to the claims of his rural tastes, and purchased a small farm of sixteen acres, on the bounds of Syracuse, where he spent two years at hard work, with various fortunes. In 1853, having engaged in some semi-speculative enterprises and sold his little farm, he removed to New York city. In the spring of 1854, the loss of their only child and other causes induced the parents to remove to the "far west." Gathering up a few thousand dollars from previous business transactions, he located, in the autumn of 1854, at "Council City," Kan., nearly a hundred miles iu the interior. In the spring of 1855 he took machinery there for a steam saw-mill, which was followed by two others; but the "Kansas troubles" soon culminated in open hostilities, and business of all kinds suffered. About this time, by invitation of Mr. Raymond, he became a regular correspondent of the "New York Times;" and, soon afterwards, general manager to procure the earliest and fullest information for that journal from this center of interest. Thus, for a while, the "Times" enjoyed a monopoly of this news. At first he kept aloof from politics, but in the fall of 1855, circumstances having made him a witness of the hostile incursions of armed Missourians in the vicinity of Lawrence, he voluntarily waited on Gov. Shannon, and represented to him the gravity of the situation with such earnestness that the Governor assented to arrangements which resulted in a conference between him and the Free State leaders at Lawrence. In these negotiations 1605 James seems to have acted with great discretion as the commissioner of both parties, and to have been chiefly instrumental in averting bloodshed. He was appointed, immediately after these interviews, chairman of a committee to prepare a "Treaty" to be signed by the Governor and the chief citizens; and the compact was formally concluded on the following day, when the Missourians broke camp and dispersed. (See Report of Kansas Congressional Investigating Committee, 1856.)

Being in Lawrence in the spring of 1856, at the time of the raid of southern "emigrants" under the lead of Buford and Atchison, and the burning of the "Free State Hotel," he was appointed by the citizens to memorialize the President on the subject of the outrages; which he did. As these invaders had penetrated to within half a mile of the defenceless population of Council City, he determined to make the effort to secure arms for himself and neighbors. Opportunely for this, he had been appointed a delegate to the National Republican Convention which assembled in Philadelphia, and nominated Fremont for President. He was a member of the Committee on Platform and Resolutions, and also of the Conference Committee appointed to confer with a similar committee from the National North American Convention, then assembled in New York. After this, he succeeded in securing arms for his Kansas constituents and fellow citizens, which he despatched from Iowa City, in a train of three well laden wagons.

The ensuing autumn was chiefly devoted to duty as member of the Kansas Central Committee, appointed for purposes of relief and defence. By winter the "troubles" seemed to be substantially ended, and he joined with others in the purchase of a large tract of land, and the laying out of a town called Wyandot, whither he removed in the spring. This enterprise enjoyed great financial success for a time but was paralyzed by bad management and the commercial reverses of 1857. At Wyandot he participated actively in politics, during the exciting times of 1857 and 1858, though refusing all office save a membership of the Constitutional Convention of 1858, which sat at Leavenworth. In this he was chairman of the committee to memorialize Congress and present the Constitution. Meantime, he became connected with sundry business enterprises in different parts of the Territory. In the Convention for nomination of state officers under the Leavenworth Constitution, he received a plurality, but not a majority of votes, for Lieutenant Governor, though disclaiming all wish for the nomination.

In the spring of 1859 he returned to Council City, then known as Superior. While absent from home, he was elected a member of the Constitutional Convention to be held at Wyandot that summer. Of this Convention he was chosen President; and he consequently took an active part in framing the instrument which became the Organic Law of the State on its admission to the Union. He was made by the Convention acting Chairman (the hostile Territorial Governor being nominal Chairman) of the Board of State Canvassers, on which devolved all the duties of calling the various elections and canvassing the returns, and the other labors incident to placing the formal application of the inchoate State, for admission, properly before Congress, for action. From this time his name was strongly urged by many friends for the position of U. S. Senator when the state should be admitted. During the autumn, he was active in the politics of the proposed state, being Chairman of the committee on nominations in the Convention which nominated the first State officers.

In the autumn of 1860 he was elected to the Territorial Legislature, and offered the Speakership of the House, which he declined. In Jan., 1861, the session was abruptly terminated by the admission of Kansas as a State, under the Wyandot Constitution.

When the State Legislature met, he was the choice of a majority of the members opposed to the election of James H. Lane to the U. S. Senate. Finding, however, that the friends of Hon. F. P. Stanton were resolved on making him an anti-Lane candidate at all hazards, he positively forbade the use of his own name in the caucus, and urged his friends to unite on Stanton. The anti-Lane party, however, could not unite on Stanton, and Lane was elected.

He was afterwards offered a nomination to Congress by a faction of the Republican party holding a balance of power in the Nominating Convention of 1861, but declined to be a candidate, having promised his support to Hon. M. F. Conway.

The opening of the rebellion put an end to nearly all regular business in Kansas, and he went east and renewed his connection with "The Times" as a war correspondent. He was at Cairo during the spring of 1861; followed the fortunes of Gen. Lyon in the Missouri valley; was in West Va. with Gens. McClellan and Rosecrans for a short time; and the following winter, went for a few weeks to Kansas for the purpose of joining Lane's famous projected expedition to the Gulf. On the abandonment of that brilliant phantasy, he joined the expedition of Gen. Hunter to Port Royal, where he remained till after the capitulation of Fort Pulaski. He now purposed to abandon the business of war correspondent, but was induced to spend the autumn of 1862 as Washington Editor of the "Times," with the view of re-organizing that bureau, which had fallen into a condition of great inefficiency. He had intended, as a citizen of Kansas, to devote himself during the ensuing winter to the interests of the Kansas Branch of the Pacific R. R., but was finally constrained to remain in Washington till the close of the session of Congress, March 4th, 1863. He now took up his residence in New York and closely identified himself with the negotiations which resulted in the purchase of the franchise of the Kansas Pacific Railroad, by Samuel Hallett and Gen. Fremont, and the commencement of the construction of the road at Wyandot. While in Lawrence, on the 21st of August, in connection with this business, he witnessed, for the third time, the hostile approach of the enemies of free state principles, which, on this occasion, resulted in the massacre of a hundred and fifty of its defenceless citizens by the guerrilla Quantrell.

The following winter he was much in Washington on business of the Pacific R. R. Companies, and was naturally drawn into politics again. The reasons which actuated a large body of respectable politicians to look to Secretary Chase as a successor to President Lincoln, induced him to identify himself with the movement; and he became Secretary of the Chase National Committee, and as such, prepared the somewhat noted Chase-Pomeroy Circular issued by that Committee, which contained a severe indictment of the conservative war-policy of Mr. Lincoln.

The assassination of Samuel Hallett in the summer of 1864, changed his relations to the Pacific Railway enterprises; and the following years, till the fall of 1867, he devoted to the organization of several mining companies, which met with various degrees of success and failure. At that time he resolved to retire again to the country, and gratify his tastes and recruit his health in the pursuits of agriculture. During the following year he removed to a farm at Hyde Park, on the Hudson, where he now resides.

Has published since graduating, 215 original papers and volumes, and described over 300 new species and genera, mostly fossil. Has in press a work entitled "Sketches of Creation"—also a "Geological Chart." Is a member of nearly all the scientific academies and societies of America, and of several in Europe.

1751 MARTIN EBENEZER. Family 477.

Born North East, Dutchess Co., N. Y., 14 Oct., 1829; m. Mary Ryckman, New York, 8 Oct., 1863; d. Tensas Parish, La., 1 May, 1864. She lives New York City, Principal of one of the public schools.

2518 Martin b. New York City, 8 Oct., 1864.

An earnest, blameless valuable life, ended in the morning of its usefulness and success. 1751 Martin E., even while acquiring a primary education in his native town, taught a district school in North East, in 1847; at Ore Hill, Salisbury, Ct., in 1848, and another in Stanford, N. Y., in 1849. He pursued more advanced studies at Amenia Seminary, preparatory to entering upon a course of professional study. He remained in the Seminary and read medicine with 1631 Dr. L. W. Stanton, until January, 1850. He passed examinations for entrance at Union College,

Jan. 23, 1850, but decided, probably from pecuniary considerations, not to prosecute his collegiate course. He accordingly went to Durham, Ct., and conducted the Academy there during 1851 and 1852, at the same time continuing his medical studies under Dr. Fowler, of that place. In 1852 he went to Pottstown, Penn., as "representative principal" of a school for boys. He attended lectures in the Medical Department of Yale College, and graduated, 7 Jan., 1853. He spent about a year as Assistant Physician to King's County Hospital for the Insane, at Flatbush, L. I. Here he suffered a very severe attack of fever. In 1854 he received the appointment of Assistant Physician in the New Jersey State Lunatic Asylum at Trenton, where he remained two years. In the summer of 1856, he made a tour through the West, with a view of locating in general practice; but finally concluded to settle in New York City; choosing to grapple with the formidable difficulties of establishing a reputation in the metropolis, and eventually reaping the fruits of a successful metropolitan practice, rather than seek the limited rewards of a country practice more easily secured. In September, 1856, he opened an office at 339, Fourth Avenue, New York, removing, Dec., 1861 to 337, 4th Ave. With nothing but his own merits to commend him, he rapidly made friends; and in the course of seven years of patient and resolute working and waiting, he built up a remunerative business. While in practice there, he was connected with the North-western and Demilt Dispensaries. In Jan., 1864, won by the tempting but illusory and treacherous scheme of cotton raising put forth by government authority, he engaged, with others, in cotton planting in Tensas Parish, La. Though encouraged by the fairest pledges of military protection, the place was sacked by geurrillas on the morning of May 1st 1864, when he fell a victim to their barbarity. His remains were conveyed to New York, and interred in Greenwood Cemetery.

The New York Academy of Medicine adopted expressive resolutions of respect to his memory; and the medical journals commemorated the event by appropriate notices.

Dr. M E. Winchell was an industrious student of medicine and collateral sciences. The subject of insanity engrossed a large share of his attention, and he was predisposed to make its treatment a speciality. Though reserved in the communication of the results of his labors to the public, the columns of "The True American," of Trenton, N. J., contain his reports of complete meteorological observations taken while connected with the State Asylum; and other papers have published occasional contributions on other subjects. The New York Journal of Medicine contains an article of his on the "Relations of the Medical Profession to the Insane"; a report of "Two cases of Trephining," and a paper on "Delphinium and Vomiting in Pregnancy."

Two extremely well-considered articles of his on the "Breadth of the Teacher's vocation," were published in the Michigan Journal of Education in 1859. He possessed a large share of poetical genius and published a number of occasional pieces of great sweetness of rhythm and sentiment.

He was a Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine, and a member of the New York County Medical Society.

He was a member and regular attendant of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church; and deeply interested himself in its religious and benevolent enterprises. He was connected with one of the Mission Sunday Schools of that society at the time of his death. He was made a Life Member of the Youth's Missionary Society of Trinity M. E. Church, 27 Nov., 1859.

He was a man of strong constitution and vigorous mind. His plans were well considered but prosecuted with inflexible purpose and unfailing patience. He was eminently conscientious, and always reliable. "His love for justice and truth was unparalleled." Too reserved to win a hasty and sensational popularity, he made fast friends of those who discovered his merits. Always courteous and gentle in his deportment he manifested exemplary forbearance under provocations. In all things he remembered his religious duties. In the language of one of his published biographies "he has left a name beloved by all who knew him, and unsullied by a single blemish." * * * * *

II.—GOSHEN BRANCH.

FIRST GENERATION.

2637 MUNSON. Family 524.

BORN as is supposed, as early as 1750; m. Sarah Beach, Great Barrington, Mass.; d. Goshen, Ct., 1783.

2638 William Flavel 525. b. Goshen, Ct., 29 Aug., 1772.

2639 Leverett 526. b. Goshen, Ct., 25 Nov., 1777.

2640 Adino 527. b. Goshen, Ct., about 1778.

2641 Sally 528. b, Goshen, Ct., about 1779.

2642 Munson 529. c. Goshen Ct., 1780.

2643 Anna 530. b. Goshen, Ct.

2637 Munson, according to information from 2645 John Winchell, "was one of seven brothers who served in the British army, in the war before the revolution." He says, "I never knew the names of any of his brothers. If rightly informed, they each had the British crown, with the lion and unicorn, wrought in needle-work, on the frontispiece of their caps. My grandfather was at Detroit, Mich., while in the service. He knew nothing of his brother after the close of the war."

According to 2650 Munson Winchell, 2637 Munson came from England with two brothers and joined the revolutionary army; and in the first battle in which they were engaged, they became separated, and he never heard of either of them thereafter."

Some details of 2637 Munson's family have also been received from William Austin Winchell, who states that he "came from a distance" to Goshen, Ct.

One informant states that he married "after the Revolution"; but it was probably after the "French and Indian War," in which he had served as a soldier. His wife, Sarah Beach, is said to have been "a beautiful and accomplished lady."

It would not be a matter of surprise if it should yet be discovered that 2637 Munson and his brothers were descended from Robert of the Windsor Branch.

SECOND GENERATION.

2638 WILLIAM FLAVEL. Family 525.

2652 Joseph 538. b. Sangerfield, N. Y., 10 July, 1812.

2638 William Flavel officiated as a Presbyterian clergyman, "at Syracuse and other places, but chiefly at Sangerfield, 16 miles south of Utica, N. Y. He made himself somewhat notorious by denouncing Freemasonry, at the time of Morgan's disappearance—speaking and writing occasionally on the subject. He established some missions in the western part of the State; and afterwards extended them westward as far as Minnesota."

2784 Justus, the founder of this sub-branch was the oldest son of Justus, a man of wealth who, according to 2795 Samuel, lived in Hesse Cassel. Young Justus, when 18 years old, was some distance from home, collecting money for his father, when a "press gang" forced him into service among the Hessian mercenaries, in the employ of the King of England, against the American colonies. He came over with Burgoyne's Army and served in it. At the close of the war he had the opportunity to return with the other Hessians, but preferred to settle in the country against which he had been compelled to fight. He marrried a Dutch woman in the Mohawk valley, and settled at Hebron, Washington Co., N. Y.

2851 John Adam b. Jockgrim. Farmer, Perry Co., Mo.

2852 Franziska b. Jockgrim; m. William Ohlmann. Lives at Cincinnati, O.

The only information obtained of this Sub-branch is from 2850 Anthon, with whom correspondence has been conducted in the German language. 2845 Georg Michael, in his 20th year, became a soldier under Napoleon; was nine years in "the Guard;" 18 months a prisoner in Spain; returned in 1806; obtained his discharge in 1815.

2850 Anthon writes further, that he has never before found any one with exactly his own family name, though he has traveled a good deal in Germany and America. He has, however, in Germany, known many in his native neighborhood by the name of Wünstel. He found the same name in Cincinnati, and supposed it was his own, until comparison was made. He has also met with some by the name of Wenzel. "We had also a cousin, at one time, in our neighborhood, who bore our name. When I was a school-boy, our father used often jokingly to say to us children, that he had a rich uncle, but we could never find out where he was. More frequently he spoke of Poland; and he desired at one time to remove there, but the mother did not consent."

As stated in the Introduction, it is probable that the members of this sub-branch, and all who in Germany give the English orthography or pronunciation to the name, are descendents from ancestors who lived in England; though such ancestors were themselves descended from an ancient Saxon stock—the primitive stock of the Winkels of Germany.

2915 S. WINCHELL. On the road from Cheshire to Wallingford, Ct., in 1856. (1215 George W.)

2916 THOMAS. A short distance further south on the road to the Baryta mine. (1215 George W.)

2917 —— WINCHELL. Said to have lived at Middletown, Vt., when Joe Smith, the founder of Mormonism, was a boy. Represented as a counterfeiter and fugitive from justice, who, by artifice, secured complete control of one Wood, who introduced the "improvements" in his religion which were afterwards adopted by Joe Smith. Wood, Joe Smith's father and Winchell were all subsequently living at Palmyra, N. Y. (Correspondent of New York Evening Post, dated East Poultney, Vt., July, 1868.)

2918 JOHN K. Architect, Chicago, Ill.

V.—ADDITIONS.

Note in reference to "Farmington," "Berlin," "Kensington." &c.

The old town of Farmington, till 1785, embraced localities which in this book are designated "Farmington," "Berlin," "Kensigton," Worthington," and "New Britain." In 1785, a new town, Berlin, was set off (principally) from Farmington, which included Kensington, Worthington and New Britain. In 1850 New Britain was set off from Berlin and made a town by itself. The society called Kensington has therefore always been known as such since 1722. It was in the town of Farmington till 1785, and has been in the town of Berlin ever since. The same is true of Worthington, or East Berlin.

Page 208, line 17. 1751 Dr. Martin E. Winchell had his office at 229 W. 35th St., New York, from 1 Jan., 1857, to 15 Feb., 1858; at 2 Boorman Place, W 33d St., from 12 Mar., 1858, to 21 Sept., 1858; at 339 Fourth Avenue, from 21 Oct., 1858, to 16 Dec., 1861, and at 337, Fourth Avenue, from 26 Dec., 1861, to 16 Jan., 1864.

Disregarding isolated families and individuals, the representatives of the Windsor Branch Constitute 93 per cent of the whole; the Goshen Branch, 5 per cent, and the German Branch 3 per cent.

NOTE EXPLANATORY OF THE "GENERATIONS."

THE "Generations" of this work denote the generations of the heads of families. For example: The "Fifth Generation" embraces the fifth generation of heads of families; while the children of these really belong to the sixth generation, and those children who became heads of families appear again as such under the "Sixth Generation."

THE ARITHMETIC OF COUSINSHIP.

To find the relationship existing between two persons of the same Branch and the same Generation.

RULE.—Trace each person's genealogy back till you come to the name in which the two lines converge. Subtract the number (or order) of this generation from that of the generation to which the persons belong. The remainder diminished by one denotes the degree of cousinship subsisting between the two persons.

Example.—What is the relationship between 1605 James M. and 1749 Alexander, both of the eighth generation?

We may arrange the line of descent as follows:

NAME.	NAME.	GENERATION.	RELATIONSHIP.
1605 James M,	1749 Alexander,	VIII.	4th Cousins.
Son of	Son of
754 Reuben H.,	877 Horace,	VII.	3d Cousins.
Son of	Son of
274 Elisha,	300 Martin E.,	VI.	2d Cousins.
Son of	Son of
125 Elisha,	135 James,	V.	1st Cousins.
Son of	Son of
44 Thomas,	48 Martin,	IV.	Brothers.
Son of	Son of
13 Stephen.	13 Stephen.	III.

The lines converge in the IIId. generation. Now 8 less 3 equals 5, and hence the cousinship is the 4th degree.
